ONE MORE LITTLE GIRL VICTIM OF STRANGLER IN NEW YORK

EVERY CRIME WORSE THAN PREDECESSORS

Child's Body Choked, Mutilated, Proves the Murderer Is Still at Large

CORPSE OF KATIE PRITSCHLER IS FOUND

Coroner Declares the Deeds Are Worse Than Those That Have Alarmed Berlin

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—"The Graveyard," as the foreign neighborhood on First avenue between 13th and 14th streets, is known locally, gave up today a fresh crime rivalling in atrocity the mysterious butcheries of last week. The latest discovered victim was an 8-year-old girl, and, like the two young women murdered, her body had been mutilated when life was extinct.

The three murders are strikingly similar. Last Thursday night a woman was strangled in a 22d street boarding house; the next morning the body of a still unidentified woman who had been choked to death was found in an area-way in East 90th street.

Pritschler Girl's Body Found.

Katie Pritschler, daughter of a restaurant waiter, disappeared a week ago today and was killed that night. A ribbon placed about the throat and drawn so tightly that it cut the flesh, showed how she died. Her body was found today.

If the brutality of the murders can be qualified, that of the Pritschler girl ranks first.

"The Graveyard" takes its name from the proximity of the old 13th street cemetery, and the locality has been the scene of several revolting murders. The majority of the residents are foreigners.

The body of Katie Pritschler was discovered today within a block of her home and scarcely 100 yards from the location of a placard placed by the father calling attention to the fact that his child was lost. How the body could have remained undiscovered for a week, is not explained.

The body lay on a berry crate with

DISARMAMENT OF KOREA COSTS 40 LIVES SO FAR TO JAPAN

Native Battalions Rebel When Officer Commits Suicide and Are Still at Large

(Associated Press Special Cable)

SEOUL, Aug. 1.—At 9 o'clock this morning a battalion of Korean soldiers, resenting disbandment, at a given signal attacked three mounted Japanese officers who had arrived at Little West Gate barracks to demand the surrender of their munitions. Two of the Japanese officers escaped on horseback. The third one fell from his horse and escaped on foot.

Firing then began and the Koreans sallied out of Little West Gate into the street but were forced to retire under a Japanese fire from the tower gates. General Okazika ordered out reinforcements at 10:30 o'clock and the barracks and adjacent buildings were completely invested. There was continuous sniping and also fire from the Japanese machine guns and 60 Koreans and 40 Japanese were killed.

The entrances to the Japanese section of the city have been under a heavy guard of gendarmes since mid-

SENATOR NIXON IS NOT AWARE OF ANY JUMBO SUITS

Disturbing Influence of Baruch's Statement About Litigation Does Not Worry Him

In explanation of the decided break in the Consolidated Mines stocks, noted by The Journal of yesterday and the day before, there comes a story from New York that the holdings of the merger are threatened with internal strife, likely to end in litigation of so serious a nature as to tie up at least, the principal properties.

The story from the east is to the effect that B. M. Baruch, in his efforts to drive the price of the stock down, with the intention of buying heavily, made the statement that the minority holders of Jumbo stock, who did not exchange their shares for stock in the Consolidated Mines Company, are about to institute suits, based upon the apex law, they contending that the principal ledges of the Consolidated company apex in Jumbo ground, and that as minority holders they are entitled to their share of the advantages of such apex

$29,000,000 FINE MAY BE LEVIED ON STANDARD OIL TODAY

Judge Landis Is to Pronounce Sentence on the Guilty Rockefeller Corporation

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—What is expected to be the largest fine recorded in the judicial history of the United States probably will be assessed by Federal Judge Kenesaw H. Landis against the Standard Oil Company before another day has passed. Tomorrow is the date set for imposing the penalty, and attorneys who have followed the case closely and are acquainted with the fearlessness of Judge Landis believe that the fine will be very nearly the limit.

Opinion is divided as to whether the Standard will be given the maximum fine of $29,240,000. Many believe that Judge Landis will deem it expedient to make the fine much smaller, but there are a large number of attorneys and financiers, some of them intimates of the judge, who are firmly of the opinion that the penalty assessed will not be one cent less

UP TO MACKAY TO MAKE PEACE IN UNIVERSITY QUARTERS

CONTRACTOR SCHULER REPELS THE INVADERS

President Stubbs Says the Builder Talks Too Much, and the Latter Replies

A force of laborers, headed by Contractor Eugene Schuler of the Northwestern Construction Company, defended the Mackay School of Mines at the University of Nevada yesterday, and the efforts of President Stubbs' attacking party, the members being instructed to complete the destruction of the poorly built walls, were unsuccessful.

Dramatically pointing to the trespass signs that covered the undemolished tiers of brick, Mr. Schuler threatened any workman with physical violence if he entered, to finish the task begun on the morning of the preceding day. Superintendent Anderson, representing the interests of the architects, McKim, Mead & White, admitted that he had been repulsed, and with his men withdrew to the shade of the chemical laboratory.

Opposition Abandoned.

A messenger was sent to the residence of Dr. Stubbs at the south entrance to the campus, and when he had been told the facts, the announcement was made that operations on the part of the academic opposition would be abandoned.

Dr. Stubbs on the one side, speaking unofficially, says that the threats made by Mr. Schuler will be used against him in the courts if the trouble over the change in materials is not settled by the resumption of operations. Mr. Schuler replies (he did it in The Journal office) that he will not go to the courts for adjudication, but will use his feet and his hands to clear the ground occupied by the foundation of the School of Mines.

"Mr. Schuler talks too much," says President Stubbs.

"President Stubbs is a meddler," says Mr. Schuler.

Mackay Not Informed

Neither of these statements have been reported to Clarence Mackay, donor of the building, nor has he been informed by telegraph at his temporary abode in the Berkshire Hills, Conn., that the contractor says the motive for the gift is politics. None of the sensational developments since Mr. Schuler, Architect Bliss and Dr. Stubbs became involved in the dispute over authority, in fact, have reached the head of the Postal Telegraph Telegraph Company.

But the correspondence with McKim, Mead & White, the appointed drawers of the plans for the structure, has been voluminous. Intervention on the part of this New York firm will probably be the only terms on which Mr. Schuler's bricklayers will return to their work.

All negotiations with Mr. Bliss, Superintendent Anderson and the head of the university, the latter's intervention being as he says that of one deeply interested in the proper completion of the work, have been called off. Mr. Schuler will treat with none but Mr. Mackay, according to the statement made by the contractor, and until the owner signs the enforced changes in the building speci-

CORTELYOU AFTER PRESIDENCY; MAY LEAVE THE CABINET

Secretary of Treasury Has Lightning-Rod Up--Has Been Knifing Taft Boom

Says Cabinet Colleague Cannot Hold Negro Vote--Brownsville Affair Up

New Candidate Belongs to Hanna-McKinley Wing of Republican Party

GEORGE B. CORTELYOU

(Special Correspondence of The Journal.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—While he may never be an avowed candidate for the office, George B. Cortelyou is holding erect a big lightning-rod in the hope that the flash from the next Republican nominating convention may strike it. Furthermore, Mr. Cortelyou is doing things at the bottom of the rod to excite the top of it, and increase the probabilities of the flash striking it. So active has the Secretary of the Treasurer become in this base-of-the-rod work that rumors are beginning to gain currency that his presence in the cabinet will not be desired by President Roosevelt after this fall.

Wiseacres in politics declare that Mr. Cortelyou, with that softness of speech and quietness of action which characterize all his efforts, has been steadily knifing Secretary Taft, who is believed to be President Roosevelt's choice for the nomination. It is said that the Secretary of the Treasury was much opposed to the action of the Ohio Republican Committee in endorsing Taft for presidential honors, and that he labored to prevent the adoption of the resolution which was so openly opposed by Senator Foraker.

Knifed the Taft Boom

Secretary Cortelyou's opposition to his cabinet colleague takes the form of assiduous repetition of the statement that Taft cannot carry Ohio even should he be nominated. There are 60,000 negro voters in Ohio, and Mr. Cortelyou, it is rumored, passes the word along to Ohio politicians, as well as to those in Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvanit, in all of which states the negro vote in heavy, that Taft would prove an unacceptable candidate to those voters because of his

DRILLING STARTS THIS MORNING FOR FIRST OIL WELL

Drilling for oil will begin this morning near the Mayberry ranch, not three miles from Reno.

A derrick has been erected close to the Steamboat ditch and a 25-horsepower steam engine installed and today the Nevada Oil & Development Company, which filed on 16 claims last Wednesday, will start the well.

The company is prepared to go 4000 feet, but it is not anticipated by the experts who have the work in charge that a depth of more than 1000 feet will be required before oil is struck. By that depth the management expects to find a gusher, and has prepared for it. Any sudden flow will be taken care of in pits dug for the purpose.

With the plant in operation, 40 feet will be made a day. The casing sunk as the drilling progresses measures 17 inches in diameter at the surface,

NOT SO WARM WHEN IT'S DRY

Calorific Waves are Wicked but in Partnership With Gen. Humidity Would be Worse

MAKESHIFTS TO AVOID HEAT

Tonopah Cooler Than Reno and White Pine the Record for Low Temperature

Sweaty-browed people, forced to work during these hot days, or if they are not forced to work to even exist, possibly remember and doubt that academic phrase: "No matter what the intensity of the sun's rays may be, the temperature of snow and ice never rises above 32 degrees." Indeed, they argue, the very fact that ice melts during such warm weather is assurance that the scientists are wrong.

Caloric waves, permeating the rare atmosphere of Nevada, blister the paint on unshaded roofs, stifle the residents within, burn the rocks so that "going barefooted" is no longer a pleasure, and make intolerable life on the street.

From 9 o'clock until after 6, when the students of calorimetry have every chance to observe the effect of heat on themselves and their neighbors actual suffering is evaded by the absence of moisture in the air, so that merely unpleasantness is produced.

Three Plunges in Eight Hours

Tenant of a flat in this city, who, working at night, has to endure the tortures of the unfortunate during the 96-degree afternoons, such as being experienced Wednesday, needed no alarm clock to awaken him every every few hours. With the curtains tightly drawn and the electric fan buzzing at the window, he still perspired in silk pajamas on the uncovered bed. An idea seized him. The bathtub was in the hall. Record: Three plunges in eight hours. He told his friends on going to the office that night that he got fully 20 minutes sleep.

Another story of the summer, a little frivolous, true, is the production of a tall waiter in a local cafe. He says that one of his late breakfast patrons feels so thoroughly disgusted that his vacation in Reno should be accompanied by hot weather, he orders a piece of ice in his mush as a lowerer of temperature. Again, the success of the bathtub man is repeated.

Of course, there are the mint-julep drinkers and the patrons of the "nut sundae" resorts who brag of their cure for the weather effect, but inquiry among the learned scientists of the physical laboratories developed the startling fact that these people only deceive themselves, for the scientists say the internal heat of the body adjusts itself to the external conditions regardless of the number of visits to the thirst parlors.

Some Weather Facts

If anyone thinks July and August on the plateau 4500 feet above the sea are warm here are some facts:

Last month was fifth coolest in 20 years.

Tuesday 93, Wednesday 96 and Thursday 92 degrees were the records for temperature.

The nights are cool because the rays of the torrid sun refract through the thin air, leaving no mark of discomfort.

Dryness, the absence of moisture, does not prevent evaporation. Evaporation is cooling.

Tonopah averages one-half of one degree lower temperature than Reno. White Pine county is the coolest part of Nevada.

action in mustering out of military service the negro regiment which was responsible for the Brownsville affair.

With Hanna-McKinley Crowd

By natural processes, Cortelyou belongs with the old Hanna and McKinley element of the Republican party. It was McKinley who first brought him into the lime-light, and his friendship with Hanna lasted as long as "the old man" lived. As a national character, Cortelyou began his career under the tutelage of these two men.

He was thrown into intimate contast with their friends, absorbed their ideas, formed affiliations similar to theirs, and today enjoys the friendship of that element of the party which Hanna and McKinley represented.

While he has served President Roosevelt as secretary, and in three different cabinet offices, his friends know that his real enthusiasm, in politics, is with the old crowd rather than with the Roosevelt wing of the party.

Is Favored by Big Corporations

A prominent railroad president was recently heard to remark:

"Keep your eye on Cortelyou; he's a likely candidate."

This remark had its significance. For with the bad odor into which Vice President Fairbank's candidacy for the nomination is falling, with the revelations as to his seemingly innate hypocrisy, the railroads may be forced to withdraw the support they have been expected to give to him.

In that event, it would not be at all strange if the railroads should pick the young Secretary of the Treasury as the man to receive their support in the convention.

Retirement Is Expected

The growing belief in Cortelyou's ambition to stand for the nomination, the quietly-shifting attitude of the railroad and other corporate interests in his direction, and his carefully concealed but none the less certain efforts to stay the Taft boom, are responsible for the rumor that he may shortly retire from the cabinet, under pressure.

Federal Court Enjoins Ophir and Con. Virginia From Interfering With Hewson's Men

TO INSPECT VEINS IN MINES

Comstock-Golden Gate Company's Suit Is Attracting Attention —Set for Trial Aug. 19

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CARSON CITY, Aug. 1.—Hewson's Comstock-Golden Gate Mining Company was granted a temporary restraining order in the fedaral court here today that will prevent the Con. Virginia and the Ophir mines from blocking their shafts, flooding the drifts, stopping the tunnels or interfering in any way in the inspection of the ledges that are alleged to apex on the property of the plaintiff.

The hearing of the $4,000,000 recovery and damage suit, with all its mysterious phases, was set by Judge Farrington for August 19. Mack & Shoup, Reno attorneys, will then present evidence that they are said to have gathered to show that the two greatest producing properties on the Comstock are trespassing on ground owned by a rival corporation.

R. Hewson, who is said to control the majority shares of the Comstock-Golden Gate, is preparing to enter the shafts of the Ophir and the Con. Virginia with a crew of competent engineers, and get statistics to prove his rights to the damages and the $2,000,000 in ore that has been removed.

The outcome of the battle, promising to be one of the most sensational since the Montgomery-Shoshone suit of a few years ago, is attracting the interest of mining men all over the country.

night and troops and machine guns are stationed in all the streets. General Okaziki believes that he has ample troops to control the situation. The other three Korean garrisons have not mutinied. The invested quarter is adjacent to the consulate quarter, which is protected by a strong cordon of Japanese troops, but notwithstanding this, the American consulate was struck by several bullets.

At 8 o'clock this morning after the minister of war had read the rescript of disbandment to the higher Korean officers at the house of General Hasegawa, Major Paksung Kuan, commander of the first battalion of the first Shiwa regiment returned to the barracks and committed suicide. This excited his subordinates and also a battalion of the second Shiwa who attacked two Japanese officers and their orderlies.

ANOTHER LITTLE GIRL VICTIM OF STRANGLER

seemingly no effort at concealment.

"You can say for me," Coroner Harburger declared, "that the crimes in Berlin, of which the newspapers have told, have not been a thousandth part as bad as the murder of this little girl."

At the coroner's direction Gaetano Rippolano, whose cobbler shop adjoins the girl's home, was arrested and asked to explain his absence from his shop last Friday. He established the fact that he had spent the day at Bristol, Conn. The girl is said to have frequently visited Rippolano's place, and a search of the shop brought to light a man's shirt, which bore red stains. The cobbler was arrested and remanded to the coroner.

Searching for a Woman.

Guiseppe Bonfanto, Rippolano's partner, was questioned, but threw little light on the case and was not detained. The police also began a search for a woman who is said to have formerly roomed at the Pritschler home, but left there after a quarrel and took lodgings in the house where the girl's body was found.

When news of the finding of the little one's body spread through the neighborhood, excitement rose to such a pitch that the removal of the body and the arrest of Rippolano almost caused a riot. Many thousands of persons were in the nearby streets when the wagon from the morgue arrived. At sight of the covered body, the crowd vented its grief and rage in a babel of tongues. The police were compelled to use force to get through the street.

Mob Charges Prisoner's Shop.

Soon afterward the arrest of the cobbler became known and the crowd charged the prisoner's shop. Rippolano had been safely removed to the station house, but his shop windows were smashed and only the determined front of the police reserves, who clubbed right and left, prevented greater damage.

John Kusmicho, the Russian watchman under arrest as a suspicious person, and who is said to have been seen in the company of the girl whose body was found in the area-way on East 9th street, was today remanded without bail until Saturday. No clew to the murder in 22d street was secured today.

Later it was decided to hold Bonfanto for examination tomorrow. Dora Messner, who is said to have been seen in the company of the cobbler, was arrested as a witness. She was arraigned in the night court and held for the coroner.

AN ALL-NIGHT POLICE COURT

Innovation in New York Last Evening Attends to a Rush of Criminal Business.

CITY MAGISTRATES ALL THERE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—New York's first all-night police court was opened last night when Judge Whitman formally announced that the night shift of justices was ready for business. Seventy-two unfortunates who had fallen into the toils since nightfall, peered from the detention pen.

Heretofore professional bondsmen have reaped a harvest from persons by keeping them out of jail for one night, who were arrested as disorderly. It has been alleged that many such arrests were made without sufficient warrants. On the bench with Judge Whitman was practically the full board of city magistrates.

Police Commissioner Bingham, two of his deputies, and many attorneys also attended the session, the formal hours of which are from 9 p. m. to 3 a. m. It is expected that other night courts will be required to handle the after-dark business.

narrowing slowly until at a depth of 1000 feet the size is 12 inches. The casing to be used is of the finest California steel and will penetrate any formation that may be encountered.

The first and principal locations made in the Nevada oil fields were passed upon by J. W. Frank, who has been experting for the Standard people for years, and is at present employed by the Canadian government at Great Slave lake where strong oil indications have been found. His employment by the government was brought about through his locating and passing judgment upon certain fields in Alberta for a private corporation. In this instance a depth of 3500 feet had to be reached before there was a flow. Then came a gusher, and it is said it is the largest flowing well in the Dominion today. Mr. Frank will return to Reno in 30 days and will make more extensive investigations of the fields here.

What Expert Said

Before leaving Nevada a month ago, he said the very best quality of oil would be found here. It has a strong paraffine base, and though not light, as far as surface indications manifest, is almost entirely free from asphaltum. This means that a first class refining oil will be secured.

Among locators in the last three days is Mrs. M. Good, who has located 40 acres north of Highland. S. J. Mullin has recorded 160 acres, located in section six, north of the old Mayberry ranch. He has had years of experience in oil fields in Pennsylvania, Kansas and California, and is confident that oil will be a close rival to metals in the products of the state. A number of other local people and many strangers are busy staking out claims in the Peavine mining district, and location notices are being filed daily with the county recorder.

STANBARD OIL MAY BE FINED $29,000,000

than that allowed by the statutes.

"The only excuse a judge may be called upon to offer," say the lawyers, "in imposing less than a maximum fine in criminal cases like this is a bona fide reason for clemency. In this case Judge Landis offered the Standard Oil Company full opportunity to prove that the New Jersey concern had been a law-abiding corporaton.

NEW TRIAL FOR BOY'S SLAYER

Thompson, Who Killed a Goldfield Messenger, Has Succeeded in His Appeal

HAS MONEY TO FIGHT WITH

Victim Collided With Murderer While Riding Bicycle and Was Shot Without Mercy

(By Associated Press)

CARSON CITY, Aug. 1.—John Thompson, alias Albert Jackman, the murderer of John Moritz, the Goldfield messenger boy who was shot down on the streets of the Southern Nevada camp, was granted a new trial by the supreme court here today.

Thompson, it was announced today, recently inherited $40,000 from a distant relative, and he expects to spend if necessary all of this sum in his defense before Judge Langan in the Esmeralda county district court.

Thompson was convicted of murder in the first degree. The testimony showed that Moritz collided with him while riding a wheel. Thompson soon after leveled his revolver at the messenger, and killed hi mwithout mercy. The penalty for the crime was hanging. The date was set, postponed and set again and the prisoner has been all the time an inmate of the penitentiary

The appeal was taken on the grounds that the district court judge had erred in his instructions to the jury. The supreme court upheld this contention, granting another hearing of the evidence.

fications, no progress will be made.

Evidence of the determination of Mr. Schuler to get, as he maintains, absolute assurance of the authority of Dr. Stubbs to write communications concerning the proposed alterations in the construction is shown by the visit he made to the university president's home yesterday.

Mr. Schuler called on Dr. Stubbs and asked him if he was ready to attach Mr. Mackay's signature to the documents presented. The visit was regarded by Dr. Stubbs as impertinent, but Mr. Schuler considered that he had by going there won another point in the controversy.

"The Northwestern Construction Company will not make a change from the original specifications without the statement from the owner, Mr. Mackay, that the changes are correct," said the contractor. "Then, we want the extra cost guaranteed before we will proceed with the work."

Dr. Stubbs replied to this with the assertion that the representatives of Mr. Mackay are fully responsible for the completion of the School of Mines, and that the injection of the owner into the controversy is unnecessary.

VARDAMAN IS AWAY BEHIND

John Sharp Williams Leads Mississippi's Governor for United States Senator Three to One

ONLY HALF THE VOTE COUNTED

Close Contest in Progress for the Nomination for Chief Executive of the State

(By Associated Press)

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 1.—At midnight incomplete returns from the Democratic primaries held today throughout the state show Congressman John Sharp Williams to be leading Governor Vardaman for the senatorial nomination by three to one. The count is progressing slowly because of the extreme length of the ticket.

In the contest for governor, Charles Scott and A. F. Noel are leading the other candidates with only a small margin.

As yet not more than half of the state has beenheard from and neither side will concede the election. To select the gubernatorial nominee a second primary will be necassary. For lieutenant-governor, Luther Manship is leading by a large majority.

The day was favored by excellent weather and an unusually heavy vote was polled. No disorder was reported from any point.

SENATOR NIXON TALKS ABOUT BARUCH'S STORY

suits as might have been brought by the Jumbo company had not the control been transferred to Consolidated.

What Senator Nixon Says.

The statement was quickly felt in the street, and much color is lent to the story by the fact that Consolidated was subject to a steady decline during the latter part of last week, followed by a very pronounced break in the market Wednesday, when the stock sold as low as $7.22 1-2.

Upon receipt of the New York story, last evening, Senator Nixon was seen by a Journal reporter, and asked for information. He said:

"That is simply one of those idle rumors which amount to nothing, and which have not materially affected the stock. The break in the market which you refer to as having occurred yesterday, was not a break, only an ordinary fluctuation which occurs from day to day in all security dealing, and cannot properly be termed a break."

"What about the assertion accredited to B. M. Baruch, regarding the apexing of the Consolidated ledges in Jumbo ground?" was asked.

"If the Consolidated ledges apex in Jumbo ground I am not aware of the fact, and I think, if anyone knew about such a condition, I would certainly be in a position to know it.

"This rumor may have been started with some hope or expectation of driving the price of Consolidated Mines down in order to buy. That, of course, I have no means of knowing, but what I do know is that there is nothing in the rumor from New York of litigation based on the apex law, or any other, that I am aware of, and there is nothing at all in the statement that the Consolidated ledges apex in the Jumbo ground."

PLACER DIGGINGS AT WALKER LAKE

Dirt in Lappin Canyon, in the Reservation, Reported as Panning Quantities of Coarse Gold.

STAMPEDE IS IN PROGRESS

Dutch Creek Camp Said to Be Deserted—Indians Got Gold From This Source in Old Days.

Word was received from Mina last night of a placer strike in the Walker Lake district, which, if nearly as extensive as the information received indicates, is one of the biggest things reported from that district since the opening of the reservation last fall.

The reported strike was made in Lappin canyon, one mile south of Mount Grant, and Tuesday everyone at the Dutch Creek camp is reported to have left for the newly discovered placer diggings, about six miles distant. Since then the lake boats have been kept busy carrying outsiders across the lake from the gravel pit on the railroad to Dutch Creek; which is the nearest point to the new discovery.

W. A. Meheffey, L. W. Wilcox, Henry Paige, Van Wicher & McCoy and Peter Hansen made the discovery last Tuesday, and two hours later, with a small rocker, $45 worth of gold had been taken from the surface gravel by one man.

The gold found is all coarse, ranging in size from that of a small shot to pieces an eighth of an inch in length. Several are reported to have come out of the new camp with specimens of the gold, and every time it is is shown fresh recruits are added to the stampede.

Among those who are reported to have visited the strike, and to have returned with a sample of the gold taken out, is the editor of the Western Nevada Miner, who panned $5 worth of gold from the claim of Meheffey & Wilcox. George Wilcox, an old Alaska placer miner, is another who is said to have returned to Dutch Creek with a sample panning of the newly discovered gold.

The present strike is said to explain the source of the gold which the Indians used to bring in before the opening of the reservation, when their trading point was Hawthorne, and when questioned concerning its source, their explanation was that they got it from Mount Grant.

The best route to the new diggings is to leave the train at the gravel pit, take the boat across the lake to Dutch Creek, from where there is said to be a good trail.

TRACTION COMPANY'S BUSINESS DOUBLED

The annual statement of the Reno Traction Company has been made public and shows that, though the company's business has almost doubled during the last year, the expenses, including extensions and improvements, have been so large that the net earnings are considerably less than they were during 1905 and 1906.

Following is a statement of the business of the company during the year closed June 30, 1907:

Receipts from operation of cars within city limits, $19168.60; operating expenses, $16527.79; net profits, $2640.81; 2 percent due the city, $52.82.

City Clerk Christie was paid $52.82 yesterday by Manager George Campbell, of the traction company, the amount due the city for the fiscal year just closed. This is according to the proviso of the franchise under which the company is operating within the city, and which was granted in 1904.

Van Buren to Build Hotel.

W. C. Van Buren, owner of the large property at the corner of Second and Lake streets where the Olympic skating rink stood before the fire, stated yesterday that Knowles & Howitz, the proprietors of the resort that was destroyed, have been refused a lease on the lots. Mr. Van Buren said he wants to sell a part of the property with the intention of building a hotel on the part adjoining Lake street.

SPENDS DUPES' CASH IN PARIS

"Get-Rich-Quick" Goslin Sued by Wife for $100 a Week Alimony

HE HAS THREATENED DIVORCE

Deserted Woman Tells of Plot to Take Her Infant Child Away From Her

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Alfred R. Goslin, greatest "get-rich-quick" operator in America, is declared by his wife to be possessed of enormous wealth wrung from dupes in this country. And he is "blowing it in," Mrs. Goslin says, in riotous living at Paris, while she has been compelled to sell $30000 worth of furniture for $3000 in order to keep herself alive.

Seeks Divorce in France

Goslin, who came before the public first in the great E. S. Dean & Co. "get-rich-quick" swindle, found life in New York thereafter, while possible yet too strenuous, owing to the fact that the police connected him with every swindle or large robbery that showed signs of unusual ingenuity. Finally he slipped away to Europe, leaving his wife without money. Now, it appears from Mrs. Goslin's complaint in her action for alimony at $100 a week, he took with him $200,000 in cash and a large amount in bonds and securities, all of which, she says, was "wrung from dupes in this country." Her suit will be heard in the supreme court tomorrow.

Recently he caused to be served upon Mrs. Goslin a notice that he was about to begin suit against her in Paris for divorce upon the ground of abandonment and would commence active proceedings to this end unless she at once joined him in the French capital. He notified her to report to him there and bring with her their young daughter, Marcelle Yvonne Goslin. Mrs. Goslin refused to leave America, declaring her belief that the invitation was but a ruse by which Goslin hoped to obtain possession of the child. Her answer to the demand was to begin a suit for separation and alimony at the rate of $5200 a year.

"Bleeding Suckers"

Mrs. Goselin's complaint sets forth some facts that throw an interesting light on the prosperity of those who live by bleeding suckers. At the time of her marriage to Goslin 12 years ago she was given a cash present of $60,000 by her husband. For several years after their marriage they lived at the rate of $30000 a year, which represented only a small portion of the profits reaped by Goslin from his "get-rich-quick" brokerage business. Mrs. Goslin asserts that her husband deserted her in April, 1905, and has not since contributed to the support of herself or her daughter.

Mrs. Goslin is 28, small and slender, with large blue eyes and brown hair, apparently educated and refined and decidedly beautiful. She declares that in order to secure money with which to buy food she has been compelled to desert the Goslin mansion and sell the furniture, originally costing $30000, for $3000.

CLUB DIRECTORS ARE HUNTING QUARTERS

Two Centrally Located Sites Offered New Organization for Home.

The directors of the Sierra Club are searching the city for a location that can be used temporarily for organization headquarters. Soon after the first of the year a floor will be ready in the Gazette building, but the immediate demands are troublous.

Two places have been offered, a suite of four rooms in the Clough & Crosby structure, Center and Second streets, and another in the Swiss American hotel on North Virginia. The quarters in the former building are described as small, the rent being $80 a month. The proprietor of the saloon that is being established in the first floor of the Swiss-American has agreed, according to C. M. Sumner, to rent the entire second floor for $165 a month, the alterations furnishings to be made by the club.

The decision as to quarters will be made Monday night.

HUNTER CREEK PIPE HERE.

Several carloads of pipe have arrived in Reno, consigned to the Reno Power, Light & Water Company, for use in the Hunter Creek water project. Lack of material has so far handicapped the company in the pushing of the work. It is announced now that progress will be more rapid and that the work will proceed without any break.

SHIPPED READY MADE HOUSES

Carload of Portable Buildings Sent to Albany Copper Company of Buckskin Camp.

RENO GOT ALL THE TRADE

New Local Industry Booming Because of Advertising in the Columns of The Journal.

The new industry of the manufacture of portable houses, started in Reno five weeks ago, has already attracted the attention of the state, the first carload of the product having been shipped to Buckskin yesterday.

The Nevada Portable House Company, builders of the dwellings, turned out the product through the Borden-Shannon Construction Company's mills here. The houses were sent away completely supplied with furnishings for occupancy. The beds were made in this city, too. Even the springs for the mattresses were a local product.

The Journal Ad Did It.

The Albany Copper Company of Buckskin was the purchaser of the houses. Three insertions in The Journal of an advertisement of the builders were sufficient to obtain buyers. So pleased is Secretary Beatty of the Nevada Portable House Company that he will immediately begin supplying the other orders that are coming in.

The Buckskin mining promoters bought two portable residences, one automobile garage, one bunk house, one hoist house and one portable office. The sale was completed soon after representatives of the company heard of the factory that had begun operations in this city, a copy of The Journal with the announcement of the manufacturers having been read at the camp by the mining men.

Mr. Shannon, who, with Mr. Beatty, reported the sale of the carload of portable houses, said yesterday that the work will proceed with additional equipment, which is being ordered as fast as the demand warrants Mr Shannon expects that the industry will become one of the most important yet established here, and will be the means of attracting other factories to Reno.

Aids Reno Trade.

"Already the Albany Copper Company has purchased all its supplies in Reno," said Mr. Beatty. "The original attraction, the portable houses, demonstrated the advantages of the town as a marketing-place, and as a result other materials for use in the Lyon-Storey county camp have been sought here.

"The portable house is one that can be made adaptable to conditions in the gold districts, and we expect to find a sale for them throughout the intermountain country."

Clark Road Cuts Rates

CARSON CITY, Aug. 1.—Authoritative information was received today that the San Pedro, Salt Lake & Los Angeles railroad has cut its rates from Salt Lake to the Southern Nevada mining camps to give the Utah metropolis a chance to compete with the Southern California city for trade. The reduced rates are said to have been obtained after action started by the Commercial Club of Salt Lake.

MASSIVE LOCOMOTIVE FOR A 2-FOOT GAUGE

Western Pacific Construction Engine Is Received in Reno

An engine that had been used by the Western Pacific construction crews on the work near Beckwith was brought to Reno yesterday to be repaired. The engine is a massive machine, but the gauge is adapted to the Nevada-California-Oregon tracks.

The gauge of the track used on the work done for the Western Pacific by crews other than those of the Utah Construction Company, is only 24 inches. Several cars with this narrow gauge have been sent through here within the last few weeks.

May Put Wild Animals in Cells.

The cells that were formerly used in the city prison were removed yesterday by the Reno Construction Company to the court house. The Moana springs company is bargaining with the city for the purchase of one set of cells, which it is intended shall be taken to the resort south of Reno for an animal cage.

A VICTORY FOR THE PRESIDENT

Frank Frantz Is Nominated for Governor by Republicans of New State.

ADMINISTRATION INTERESTED

Tremendous Ovation Given the Candidate When the Announcement of His Success Comes.

(By Associated Press)

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 2.—For Governor, Frank Frantz; Lieut.-Governor, N. G. Turk, Chechotah, I. T.; Secretary of State, Thomas Robnett, Ardmore, I. T.; Attorney-General, Silas Reid, El Reno. That is the Republican ticket selected at the first convention held for nominating state officers for Oklahoma.

The victory is one for Roosevelt, for Frantz was appointed by him territorial governor of Oklahoma and stands for Roosevelt Republicanism at every point Two cabinet officers engaged rooms here for today. Whether they were occupied or not, no one seems to know, but it shows the personal interest that the President took in the contest.

Not in the history of the party in Oklahoma has there been tendered such an ovation to one man as that which greeted the announcement taht Governor Frank Frantz was nominated as head of the ticket without opposition. The delegates assembled cheered for several minutes and balked the efforts of Chairman Murphy to restore order.

The action was not unexpected in view of the feeble opposition, but the realization seemed to carry the convention off its feet.

The unexpected occurred when the section in the platform denouncing the Democratic constitution was eliminated and the party merely pledged itself to secure amendments to the document.

Harriman Line Dividends

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Directors of the Southern Pacific Company declared a quarterly dividend of 1 1-2 percent on the company's common stock. This is an increase of 1-4 of 1 percent, and if continued will make the annual dividend 6 percent instead of 5 percent as heretofore.

The meeting of the board of directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company scheduled to be held today, at which action on the dividend was expected, was adjoined until next Thursday, there being no quorum present.

DESERTED IN JUST A WEEK

Pretty English Girl Is Wooed, Won and Left Alone in Seven Days.

HAMBURG MILLIONAIRE GONE

Automobile Marriage at Bellingham Witnessed by Chauffeur, But Bridegroom Skipped.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

VANCOUVER, Aug. 1.—Miss Amelia Howe, a pretty English girl, who was wooed and won by a Hamburg millionaire, has within a week been deserted. Hans Arnold, the wealthy German she married in Bellingham, has disappeared, and neither the sheriff nor the police have been able to get a trace of him.

Mrs. Arnold met the dashing gallant in Vancouver, July 26. Sunday he proposed and was accepted. Monday she went with him to Bellingham to be married. The trip was made in an automobile, the couple stopping at Sumas for the license. The chauffeur was witness to the ceremony.

On the return an accident occurred to the motor, and it was agreed to spend the night at a station on the road. But when Mr. and Mrs. Arnold had reached their hotel, the husband said he had left his purse in Bellingham. He started after it, telephoned when he reached there taht he had been hurt in a street car accident, and that was the last his wife has heard from him.

"JACK THE SLASHER" CAUGHT IN DENVER

With Keen Knife Cut Dresses of 30 Women

(By Associated Press)

DENVER, Aug. 1.—A "Jack the Slasher," was arrested in this city after he had slashed the dresses of 30 women and girls on the streets. When caught in the act and searched, a keen knife and several bits of slashed dresses were found in his possession. He gave his name as Peter Magoffin and his occupation as laborer. He could not explain his actions.

NEW LINE IS A COMPETITOR

Tonopah & Tidewater Railway Forms Combination With Santa Fe on Freight Rates

SOUTHERN CAMPS BENEFITED

New Arrangement Is in Opposition to Southern Pacific and Tonopah & Goldfield Roads

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Brock's combination with the Southern Pacific to keep freight rates to the Southern Nevada camps reached by the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad is soon to receive forceful competition by the affiliation of the Tonopah & Tidewater line with the Santa Fe.

The two later named roads are preparing a schedule that will supply the mining camps with transportation cheaper than has ever been before attempted.

Competition in Sight

The reduced rates will allow Southern California shippers to engage in commerce that has been almost exclusive for Salt Lake and San Francisco under the old conditions.

"The Santa Fe is now figuring on a traffic proposition," announced Edward Chambers, assistant traffic manager of the company, yesterday. "The purpose is to connect San Francisco, Oakland and other shipping points in this part of the state directly by rail with Bullfrog, Rhyolite, Goldfield, Greenwater and other Nevada mining sections. We are preparing rates in conjunction with the Tonopah and Tidewater Railroad, with which we connect at Ludlow. As soon as our schedule is perfected, it is to be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval.

In 60 Days

"That Nevada country to be reached by our connection with the Tonopah and Tidewater wants all kind of supplies, mining machinery, groceries, hardware, vegetable, fruits, clothing, and other things; it wants practically everything that California produces. The new rates will go into effect in about 60 days."

RENO, NEV., FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1907

For the Greater Nevada

ABOUT October 15th, The Journal will issue a "Greater Nevada Edition." This edition will be all that its title implies, it being the intention of the editors and publishers to make it thoroughly representative and descriptive of the wonders of the state under the renaissance.

The "Greater Nevada Edition" of The Journal will consist of approximately 100 pages, of the regular size of the daily edition. It will be printed on an exceptionally good grade of paper, and liberally illustrated. Four pages will be given to an illuminated cover, on which the design shall allegorically delineate the resources and possibilities of the state. Besides the regular news section for the date on which the edition will be issued, there will be one section devoted to historical and descriptive matter covering the entire state, and the range of its opportunities. The mineral, agricultural, and stock-raising interests of the state will be thoroughly described, and there will be specially written articles dealing with all of these subjects, and with such correlated interests as irrigation, smelting, transportation and intra-state commerce. There will be special sections of the paper devoted to all of the more important cities and camps, Reno, Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, Ely, Yerington, Ramsey, Winnemucca, Lovelocks, Seven Troughs, and all of the other districts.

Throughout, the "Greater Nevada Edition" will be copiously illustrated, it being the aim of the publishers to produce such an edition as will give to all to whom it may go not only a complete photographic presentation of Nevada as it is today, but, also, such a letter press description as will make every feature of the Battle-born state as vivid before the reader as though it were done with the camera.

For the purpose of facilitating the publication of this edition, The Journal has retained E. J. Fitzpatrick, a man of wide experience in the handling of important newspaper enterprises. Mr. Fitzpatrick has gathered about him a corps of the ablest writers and illustrators in the country, and these gentlemen have already started on the work entrusted to them. Ample time is being given to the preparation of the edition, in order that there may be neither delay nor disappointment in the issuance of it, and the character and repute of the manager, Mr. Fitzpatrick, and his co-laborers, are guarantees that it will in every way fulfill the representations made for it.

The Journal is entering upon this enterprise with enthusiasm. The "Greater Nevada Edition" will be an all-Nevada product. The paper necessary for printing 50000 copies of 100 pages each must be procured from outside of the state, but in every other respect it will be the result of Nevada effort and facilities. From the time the first line of type is set until the last picture shall have been engraved every detail of the work will be performed within the lines of the state, and beside going forth to its readers as the most pretentious and complete delineation of Nevada's wonderful opportunities and marvelous resources, the "Greater Nevada Edition" will be such a home-product as to elicit the approval of every citizen of the state.

In the work we are undertaking we bespeak the hearty cooperation of all Nevadans, and solicit an open-minded hearing for Mr. Fitzpatrick and his assistants, believing as we do that with the successful execution of the enterprise—and the reputation of The Journal, under its new management, is a guarantee that it will be successfully carried out—will mean inestimable benefit to the state.

Reno and the Southern Pacific

SINCE the agitation first began over the danger of a fuel famine in Reno during the coming winter, and since The Journal brought to the attention of the Interstate Commerce Commission the grossly discriminatory rates, as between coal moving eastward from San Francisco and the same commodity moving westward from the mines in Utah and Wyoming, much pressure has been brought to bear upon The Journal to restrain it from in any way criticising the S. P. management. It has been urged that this railroad is on the point of giving to Reno a distributing rate, and that the arrangements which have been made to this end would be seriously jeopardied should any Reno newspaper start an agitation for relief from the general burdens which are imposed upon the city by the arbitrary and excessive transportation charges fixed by the railroad. And in the same breath that these representations have been made to us, we have been appealed to to gird up our loins and far forth to battle against the N.-C.-O., on the ground that it is practicing discrimination against Reno.

It is needless to say that the urgings we have heard that we refrain from attacking the right of the S. P. to mulct Reno, until out of the depths of its bounty it sees fit to give this city a distributing rate, have not affected us in the slightest. Nor have the appeals that we make assault against the N.-C.-O. In the first place, we do not believe that Reno will gain any advantage, to her trade or otherwise, from a policy of palaver and soft-pedalling in order to secure a distributing rate. "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts," is an ancient adage which may well be applied to this situation. The S. P. is not going to give Reno anything of value, neither is it going to give the state of Nevada any thing of value. For every gift it makes, it will exact tribute 100-fold. Our own opinion is that its promises to grant a distributing rate to Reno have been conceived in sinisterness. If the S. P. is disposed to give this advantage to Reno, why is it now engaged in fighting the maximum rate clause of the Railroad Commission Act? If its purpose in making these promises is sincere, why does it not grant the new rate now, instead of stalling action day by day and week by week, in the hope, as we see it, that any determined action by Reno to secure redress for the grievances that it holds may be delayed until after the fate of the maximum rate clause shall have been decided?

We have had some experience in examining into and reporting the ways of railroads, and the urgings we have heard that we not attack the monopoly which holds Reno in its grasp have had no effect upon us because we are convinced that this city will never get justice from the Southern Pacific except by fighting hard for it. And we have not gone forth to the assault upon the N.-C.-O. because in our opinion it is wasted energy to fire at flies when we might be better engaged in shooting bear.

Just now the thing uppermost in the mind of the people of Reno is this question of fuel supply.

The speculators who are endeavoring to close contracts at famine prices, and who have the endorsement of a contemporary in their efforts to contract for all demands before the independent operators and dealers can get their coal here and sell it at a fair price, figure on delivering approximately 25,000 tons of coal in Reno for consumption here and at adjacent points during the winter. Should the Pacific Coast fuel trust secure the contracts for this coal, the people of Reno will be compelled to pay the Southern Pacific Railroad $100,000 for delivering here a 7-months' fuel supply. Should the Colorado speculators capture the market, the exaction in freight charges will total the enormous sum of $250,000. Rather than emphasize the justice of the demand that the people of Reno be spared from this extortion, we are asked to gum-shoe it in our attitude toward the S. P. until after a distributing rate shall have been granted. We say frankly, we do not propose to accede to this demand.

Granted a fair rate on the transportation of coal to this market, the people of Reno would save at least $50000 on fuel coming from San Francisco, and from $75000 to $100,000 if the Colorado speculators are successful in their efforts to capture the contracts. And a rate which would bring about this saving to Reno would be of more advantage to the city than any distributing rate which the "gift-bearing Greek" among the railroads of the country can ever be soft-soaped into granting to the city. This saving would be immediate; it would be money in Reno's pocket within the next nine or ten months, while the advantages of a distributing rate will only be realized after years of effort in transferring the wholesale and distributing trade of Nevada from San Francisco, Sacramento and Salt Lake to this city.

As between the ends to be gained by soft-pedalling against the S. P. until it shall grant a distributing rate to the city, and by standing up and fighting like men, and ceaselessly, for a fair rate on coal moving into this market, the choice must, of necessity, fall upon the latter.

The moment the Commercial League sets forth to study this question it must agree to the opinion we express. Let the League put it squarely to the S. P.:

If you mean to grant the distributing rate, why don't you issue your new tariff making the change? And if you mean to grant this rate, why don't you cease your opposition to the maximum rate clause of the Boyd-Syphus Bill, thereby showing the sincerity of your protestations of friendship for Reno? If the Commercial League will put these questions to the Southern Pacific, it will ,we believe, see the chimera of railroad friendliness and bounty dissolve almost immediately, and the railroad with which it is dilly-dallying will stand revealed as a mere dickerer for time in which to fight and win its war against the Boyd-Syphus Bill.

It may be asserted that the grant of a reduction of $2.30 in the rate on coal moving from Oakland eastward to Reno was a big victory for Reno, and that the city should not be too sweeping in its demands. The grant of that rate meant nothing except that the S. P. abandoned a tariff it could by no possible stretch of the imagination defend once it was assailed, and it had been assailed by The Journal's telegram to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Here are some figures about coal freight rates:

The Southern Pacific charges $4 for the haul from Oakland to Reno, a distance of 244 miles; $6 from Rock Springs, a distance of about 900 miles, and $10 from Grand Junction, Col., a distance of about 1000 miles. Bear these rates in mind, and compare them with the following charges made by eastern railroads for the transportation of the same commodity:

Norfolk & Western Railroad, from Pocahontas to Norfolk, 400 miles, rate $1.35; Pocahontas to Chicago, 600 miles, $2.05; Pocahontas to Columbus, O., 337 miles, $1.15.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, from Cumberland to Baltimore, 189 miles, rate $1.28; from Fairmont, W. Va., to Baltimore, 240 miles, $1.38.

Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railroad, from Clearfield to Rochester, 223 miles, rate $1.10.

Pennsylvania Railroad, from Clearfield to Baltimore, 232 miles, rate $1.28; from Clearfield to Philadelphia, 260 miles, $1.20; from Clearfield to New York, 335 miles, $1.35; from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, 360 miles, $1.60.

The haul in each of the above cases is a more difficult problem than is the haul from Utah, Wyoming or Colorado mines to Reno, and is of about the same character as that from Oakland to Reno, there being mountains to climb. Yet compare the rates. Reno is paying $6 for a haul of 900 miles, as against $2.05 which Chicago pays for a haul of 600 miles. On the basis of the latter rate, the rate to Reno from Utah and Wyoming mines should not exceed $4. And Reno is paying $4 for a 244 mile haul from Oakland, as against $1.38 which Baltimore pays for a 240 mile haul from Fairmont, W. Va.

There is no man who reads this comparison but who will be forced to the admission that Reno is being robbed with high-handedness on this matter of coal freight rates, and that there is more to be gained by fighting bravely and boldly for a reduction of the coal rates than there is to be derived from any palavering about a distributing rate.

If the Nevada Commercial League is alive to its opportunity, it will go into a fight for a reduction of these coal rates, haul the Southern Pacific before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and there force it to grant Reno reasonable charges on coal, and all other commodities, instead of wasting time trying to "jolly" the S. P. into granting it something which would be, probably, of very doubtful benefit.

SPLIT STARTS IN THE G. O. P.

California Republicans Organize to War Against Senator Perkins and S. P. Machine.

PARDEE AND BULLA IN DEAL

Break in the Party May Result in the Presentation of Toga to a Democrat.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 1.—The fight against the Republican "organization" has begun, with ex-Governor Pardee, Secretary of the Board of Examiners Nye, and the entire Alameda county contingent back of the revolt. The favorite old rallying cry in California of "Down with the Southern Pacific" is again heard, and the indications point to a large-sized break in the party, which may result in the election of a Democrat to the United States Senate to succeed Perkins.

This morning there was a convention from which all the newspaper men except the editor of the Oakland Enquirer were excluded. In addition to the Oakland politicians, there were present several leaders from the south, representing the Bulla wing of the Los Angeles Republicans, and all the Sacramento valley counties were represented, with Col. E. A. Forbes' agents in the majority.

"We are going to rescue the party from Herrin, Jere Burke, Walter Parker and Frank Hatton," said several of the leaders, as they entered the meeting room, and as these are the "organization" managers, Herrin, Burke and Parker for the Southern Pacific, and Hatton for the Senator Perkins' "machine," which lately has been working with the railroad, though a separate entity, it is admitted that the war will be a merry one.

It is really a fight on Perkins as much as on the railroad, as the delegates today declared that they want a pledged legislature and the people to be allowed to indicate their preference for the Senate. Ex-Governor Pardee is willing to be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Perkins, and it is believed that the meeting today was for the purpose of starting his campaign. His friends were in the majority in the gathering, anyhow.

Thirty-five attended the meeting. They organized a league and called it the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican League. A platform was adopted, demanding the elimination of corporation influence from the affairs of the party. The policies of President Roosevelt were endorsed.

SECOND GRAFT TRIAL BEGINS AT THE BAY

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Rapid progress was made today in this, the first day of the trial of Theodore V. Halsey for the alleged bribery of Supervisor Lonergan. Halsey, as former agent of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, is the second of the public utilities corporation men to be brought to bar by the bribery-graft prosecution, and the indictment on which he went to trial today is the first of 13 similar ones that have been returned against him.

Forty-eight veniremen were examined during the day, and of these the following nine withstood the qualification tests and were accepted, subject to peremptory challenge by either side, ten peremptory challenges resting with the defense and five with the prosecution:

Charles W. Pope, real estate dealer; Edwin Bonnell, cashier and secretary of a loan society; Frank Lutley, grocer; J. H. Rutherford, hay and grain merchant; James C. Brown, retired mining engineer; Joseph C. Peters, feed dealer; Andrew N. Lunden, hotel butcher; O. C. Baldwin, real estate dealer; Moses Defenbaum, retired merchant.

RACE SUICIDE IN A SUBURB OF CHICAGO

Strange Revelations of the School Census in Evanston.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Evanston, north shore city of wealth, pride and culture, is gaining in feminine population, is losing her masculine inhabitants and is confronted with race suicide.

This situation was revealed yesterday with the completion of the city's annual school census.

The figures showed an increase of 470 in the feminine population, a decrease of 42 in the number of masculine inhabitants and and an increase of only seven in the number under 21 years old.

In that part of the city given over to luxury which furnished a population of about 12,000 in school district No. 75, there were just about the same number of children as in the fifth and sixth wards, which furnished only 4,000people. Victor McCulloch, the census taker, who is a Northwestern University student, said that even this showing in the wealthy homes was much better than it would have been had it not been that the maids and other servants under 21 years of age were included as among "the children."

The total population is 24,324 and the census shows that there are 1,963 more females than males in the town.

RENO CLUB GETS FIGHT UNLESS OUTBID

JIMMY BRITT WANTS FIGHT RIGHT AWAY

LABOR DAY AGREED TO BY HIM AND BY SELIG

Reno Will Get the Fight Unless Coffroth or Some One Else Bids Higher

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 1 —That Reno has the call for the Gans-Britt fight on Labor Day was settled this evening when Ben Selig representing Gans and Willus Britt, acting for his brother Jimmy, who put it over Battling Nelson so unmercirully last night, met and agreed that the men shall fight on that day The Labor Day fight will be for the lightweight championship of the world

When the men representing the two fighters met this evening, Selig raised the question squarely by demanding to know whether or not Jimmy Britt would fight the colored boy at any time i nthe near future or whether he proposed to accept some theatrical proposition

"We Fight Gans"

"We fight Gans" Willus responded testily, adding, 'We have received a number of theatrical offers today, but we fight Gans, for we are after the championship '

Selig was willing to sign articles then and there, but Willus Britt insisted o nascertaining what the various fight promoters have to offer Selig had no objection to this proposition but he pointed out that the Reno Athletic Club through its president Jim May, has already bid $35,000 for the battle, and asserted that none need apply for the fight with an offer of any less sum

During the discussion, the large receipts of last night's fight were pointed out in San Francisco's behalf, and it was Willus Britt's contention that the fight would draw better here than in the Nevada metropolis

Coffroth Is After the Fight.

Jimmy Coffroth is eager to handle the battle, and has some strong inducements to offer but he would not commit himself to offering a purse larger than that offered for Reno After a protracted discussion, and a full agreement on the one point that the colored boy and last night's victor shall fight on Labor Day for the lightweight championship of the world, Selig and Britt parted, agreeing to meet again tomorrow for further discussion as to the place for holding the meeting

The largest house in the history of the fight game in San Francisco turned out to see Britt put it over the Dane. The figures remind one of Goldfield. Ten thousand men bought tickets, and produced a purse to be split betwee nthe club and fighters of more than $35,000

Of this sum 60 percent went to the fighters, to be divided between them in the ratio of 60 and 40, 30 percent went to the club, and Nelson got 10 percent of the gross as an additional bonus Jack Welsh, referee got his fee of $500 from the gross receipts

Bilg Money for Both.

All this means that Britt got $12420 to pay expenses and buy flats with Nelson got $11730 the club got $10350, and Jack Welsh got $500 The rent, $3 500 or a tenth of the gross receipts was paid out of the club's 30 percent

Nelson's share nearly equals Britt's because in addition to 40 percent of the fighters pile Nelson held out for 10 percent of the gross receipts

"WILL GET THE FIGHT," SAYS PRESIDENT MAY

President Jim May, of the Reno Athletic Club, when informed last evening of the result of the negotiations in San Francisco between Selig and Britt, shrugged his shoulders, and remarked

We'll get the fight, they won't outbid us for it And we'll get the crowd, too, don't fear about that"

Early last evening, Mr May received a telegram from Jack Welsh, referee of the Britt-Nelson battle, to whom he had telegraphed the Reno club's offer for the Labor Day fight 'Britt the most improved fighter I have seen in years" said the telegram "He and Gans will be a great fight"

TO PLEASE HIS BRIDE 1000 HANDS ARE IDLE

J. B. Duke's Lavishness Compels Woolen Mills to Stop Work.

(By Associated Press)

SOMERVILLE, N J, Aug 1 —In an effort to please his bride by making his 2000-acre tract like a fairyland, with gushing fountains cascades and beautiful lakes, James B Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company pumped the Raritan river at this point nearly dry, and compelled a factory employing 1000 hands to stop work

His artificial lakes, covering an area of several hundred acres, are supplied from the river by a pumping station He ordered the fountains to be run to their fullest capacity during his honeymoon Yesterday there was scarcely enough water left in the wells of the Raritan Woolen Mills to keep the boilers going, where 1000 persons are employed, and operations were brought to a standstill.

RAMESES THE GREAT WAS JUST A FRAUD

A Dispatch That Is About Quarter of Century Late.

(Associated Press Special Cable)

LONDON Aug 1 —Egyptologists declare that Rameses II was a fraud and that he is not entitled to the appellation of Great which the historians have given him Recent explorations have developed the fact that the many temples and monuments bearing his name and therefore supposedly his work existed a thousand years before him The explorers say the king was vain and caused his name to be cut everywhere

Professor Neville one of the official explorers of antiquities in Egypt, had this to say about Rameses

The more we discover about Rameses the more convinced are we that he was a fraud He was not in any way great but his vanity was colossal To satisfy this he conceived the notion of causing his name to be inscribed on every temple statue and monument We are now beginning to find him out'

STOCKS, MINES and MARKETS

CONSOLIDATED HAS GONE UP

Stocks Take Sharp Turn Upward on San Francisco Boards Yesterday

SALES WERE QUITE HEAVY

Strong Reaction From Low Prevailing Prices of Several Days Preceding

All along the line yesterday the stock market showed a marked improvement over the several preceding days, both in point of price and numbers of sales.

As stated in this column yesterday, Con. Mines was subject to a decided break the day before, selling down to 7.22 1-2, and even as late as yesterday morning a couple of early sales indicated that about a thousand shares had been shorted by some misguided person, who believed that it was going to continue on the downward course. During the afternoon session however, the stock rallied and at closing had gone to 8.17 1-2 bid and 8.37 1-2 asked, which showed great strength.

Both Red Top and Jumbo were subject to a 50 point raise, and taking the whole Goldfield market, a very decided improvement is noticeable.

Sales were light so far as the Tonopah market was concerned, although the market remained remarkably firm.

Bullfrog securities were subject to a general improvement, and the market was much more active than it has been for a long time.

Yesterday the brokerage firm of Sullivan & Rice was busy moving from its offices in the Clay Peters building to its new home on Center street, recently vacated by the defunct Reno Brokerage Company.

KAOLIN LEDGE HAS ALUMINUM

Analysis Shows 23.41 Percent of the White, Light Metal of Value

WITHSTANDS INTENSE HEAT

Entire Absence of Lime or Iron Makes It Valuable For China Ware

The big ledge of koalin recently discovered a mile and a half back of Verdi, by C. H. Landro, an account of which was published in these columns not long since, has been attracting considerable attention since the account of the discovery was made public, and there is every prospect that it will attract still more, owing to the fact that an analysis of the material by Assayer R. H. Frazer, shows it to be entirely free of lime or iron, and that it contains 23.41 percent aluminum.

There is a very large body of the material, and its value, so far but little known, bids fair to be greater than was at first supposed. W. B. Thomas made a heat test of a sample of the kaolin, by first mixing it with water, which proved it to be soluable, and by moulding it into small bricks, in which form it was subjected to 1200 degrees, centigrade heat, which it substained without the sign of a crack, and which Mr. Thomas says will stand readily another 1200 degrees of heat without cracking. This test is proof of the assertion that it is fireproof, and it would make excellent tiling, and it is believed that it is precisely the same material as that found in China from which the finer grades of tableware are made.

Ring Like Dollars

The bricks left at the Journal office are small, and of a light cream color, very light, and when dropped together emit a fine metalic ring, showing the presence of the light, white metal.

The material is found in such great bulk that it can be taken from the ledge in pieces of almost any size desired. When taken from the ledge it is slightly discolored, having a brownish tinge, but after being exposed to the light for a day or two it turns perfectly white.

The locator, Mr. Landro, called at the Journal office yesterday, and said that himself and partners were so well satisfied with the value of their property, that they had decided to put on a force of miners for the purpose of opening up the ledge and preparing it for proper mining.

They are anxious that the public should know the real extent of the property, and for that reason extend an invitation to all those interested to visit the ground and see for themselves what they have.

FAIRVIEW NOW MILLING ORE

Bullion Retort Weighing 325 Ounces the Result of an Eleven Day Run.

GOLD TAKEN TO GOLDFIELD

Another Mill Has Been Ordered to Double the Present Output.

Now comes the famous Fairview and claims distinction as one of the actual milling mines of the great Round Mountain district.

Vice-President Spencer, of the Fairview Round Mountain Mines Company, went in to Tonopah Wednesday with a bullion retort weighing 325 ounces. This was from an 11-day run of 220 tons of ore from the Fairview dump. Figuring at $14 to the ounce for the bullion the total value of the retort is $4550, or better than $20 to the ton for the entire run.

This is the first cleanup from the Fairview company's mill and President Reece Wampler, who is in personal charge of the mill, is more than pleased at the showing made, as what is regarded as the poorest of the Fairview dumps was included in the run. The ore that is being mined at the present time is of a much higher value than that milled in this first run. Even figuring on the low basis of the present cleanup the Fairview mill, working 20 ton daily of $20 ore for 30 days, will give a monthly output of $12,000, or $144,000 a year. This with a working force of about ten men.

Another Mill Ordered.

The Fairview people, at least, are satisfied that they have plenty of ore. They have already ordered another mill to double their present milling capacity. The new mill will be put up on Fairview hill and water will be secured from the big pipe line of the Hydraulic company. Working a tunnel as they do, the Fairview people are able to mine as economically as any company in the district.

The Fairview has all along been known as a great mine. Aside from the immense bodies of milling ore there has been encountered at different times big deposits of specimen ore and the Fairview has always been in the "high-grade" class.—Round Mountain News.

OLD MUNHOLLAND LEASE IS RICH

Round Mountain Daisy is Producing Splendid Specimen Ore There Yet

WILL BUILD DAISY MILL

$20 Worth of Coarse Gold and Nuggets Taken From an Egg-Pan of Dirt

The lease on Round Mountain Daisy Mining Company's property now owned by Wm. Madigan, who recently acquired same from Captain Thatcher, is taking out some of the finest looking specimen ore ever seen in Round Mountain. This is the old Munholland lease, which is reputed to have taken out in the neighborhood of $100,000 during the twelve months of its life.

In company with Superintendent Thomas E. McSorley, of the Daisy company, a Nugget reporter was allowed to see the rich dopé in place and through the courtesy of Messrs. Madigan and Stocker we were allowed to get next to the pay streak for about a minute, with the result that a small egg pan of dirt was secured. This, when taken to the surface and panned, showed about 20 dollars worth of coarse gold besides a number of nuggets larger than peas. At his office on the Daisy, Mr. McSorley has a row of sacks loaded with high grade ore from this lease and boxes filled with the finest specimens ever seen in camp.

Captain George W. Thatcher, one of the directors of the Daisy company and also a director in the Round Mountain Hydraulic Mining Company, came out the first of the week and inspected his various interests in the district. On his return to Tonopah he took in a box of Daisy specimens which are sure to make Tonopah and Goldfield boosters sit up and take notice. Captain Thatcher thinks more and more of the prospects of Round Mountain with each succeeding visit and is today one of the most ardent boosters of the camp.

The new Daisy mill is now almost an assured fact and when it arrives and begins working those rich dumps on the Madigan lease even the great Goldfield will have to look to its laurels as a producing camp. Sunnyside, Fairview, Daisy and Sphinx—there's a quartette of producers whose mills will sing sweet music to the denizens of Round Mountain ere many moons have passed.

The company shaft on the Daisy is sinking steadily to the 500 level and Superintendent McSorley is better pleased than ever at the outlook for tapping the ledge in the shaft. The present formation is a lime schist, carrying small gold values.—News.

A. B. KLISE, PIONEER MINING MAN, IS DEAD

A letter received by W. B. Thomas of the Selby company, yesterday from the new West Comstock district, announces the death of A. B. Klise, one of the oldest mining men in the state, throughout which he was well known, although his principal operations have been confined to the district from which the news of his death comes, which was, till recently, known as the Jumbo district.

Mr. Klise was at one time the owner of the famous Pandora mine, which produced $75000 at a depth of only 75 feet.

His death will be regretted by a large number of old time friends and acquaintances, wherever mining is carried on in the state.

SELBY HOIST IS RECEIVED

Electric Engine Capable of Work to Depth of 500 Feet Is on the Ground.

WORKING TUNNEL IS STARTED

Many Leasers Are Doing Much Work With Splendid Prospects of Making Good.

A. B. Werner, superintendent for the Selby Mining Company, reports the arrival of the electric hoist, which has been on the way from the factory for some time. With the hoist came cars, buckets, steel cable, and all that goes to make a complete hoisting plant. The plant is stated by the superintendent to be capable of handling material to a depth of 500 feet.

Continuing, the letter says:

"We have started the working tunnel, which is to tap the ore bodies of the Red Top and Bargo at about 400 feet in depth. This work will be pushed as fast as possible, and is a very important piece of work, as you know.

"We are drifting in a fine ore shoot on the Bargo in the face of the north drift on the 100-foot level. This ore assays from $30 to $80 to the ton.

"The Goldfield leasers on the Jingo Fraction are pushing work with seven men. The Minerva company is about to install a hoist. The Golden Gate is to be worked as fast as possible. The leasers on the Empire claim are pushing along and have fine prospects. The Comstock Extension tunnel is now in 180 feet, and they are expecting daily to strike the first ledge.

There are several parties here now looking for leases on the Selby and surrounding property, and the day is not far distant when the West Comstock district will be as well known as the old Comstock.

HOYDNAR AND HOOVER MAY MAKE PRELIMINARY

There was a persistent rumor about the offices of the Andy Hample company yesterday to the effect that the big fight which will probably come off here on Labor Day, is to have an added local attraction, not before mentioned. This is nothing less than a preliminary between Joe Hoydnar and Eugene Hoover, two clever young men at present attached to the Hample office, who, it is said, are willing to go on and mix things, not so much for the amusement of the crowd, as for the satisfaction of a personal difference, which they consider the present referred-to occasion offers a good opportunity to settle.

Neither of the young men want a purse, and neither would accept any payment for their part of the program, merely making the stipulation that Andy Hample referee the fight.

When seen about the matter the young men were reticent concerning the source of the difference between them which only originated a few days since, after the disappearance of "Little Joe," the office mascot, under distressing and mysterious circumstances, and it is understood that each of the young men holds the other responsible for the abduction (not to put a harsher name to the matter) of the cat, and should the bout be arranged the spectators are guaranteed a good fight for their money.

DULL DAY IN WALL STREET

Failure of Quorum at Union Pacific Directors' Meeting Gives Speculators Some Uneasiness

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The professional traders in stocks were very diligent today to move prices and they met with more or less success at different times. But any efforts to realize upon the movements revealed how small was the company of those operating and carried prices back toward the starting point.

It was expected that the declaration of the Southern Pacific dividend at the rate of 6 percent would stir up some sort of an interest in the market, although the declaration was scarcely more than a formal ratification of an intention so explicitly stated by the head of the system a week ago that there was no room to suppose any departure from the plan. The stock vibrated quite feverishly, although within a narrow range, with the circulation of a rumor that a hitch had occurred in the proposed increase, or that a failure of a quorum to attend the meeting would necessitate a delay. When the formal announcement of a 6 percent rate was made, the whole market sold off, the Harrimans losing all of the early advances.

Harriman's Frankness Puzzles

The reaction was clearly due to realizing and it was found an insignificant demand attracted by the actual advance in the dividend rates. This additional evidence of the unresponsiveness of the market to any favorable news proved a fresh damper on speculative enthusiasm. The adjournment of the Union Pacific directors for want of a quorum without acting on the dividend seems to have been unfavorably construed, although the only surprise that had been suggested as a possibility in the Union Pacific dividend was of an increase. The frankness which has been used in regard to the actions and the intention of the Southern Pacific directors, in contrast with last year's secrecy, has puzzled the speculative public so much that they are inclined to suspect ulterior surprises. This was the only explanation of the view taken of the Union Pacific postponement. The fact was commented on that one of the absentees of the Union Pacific meeting was a capitalist regarding whose health unfavorable rumors have been in circulation, and whose intention to visit the financial district today was declared yesterday as disproving the rumors. His connection with the copper industry gave occasion for some further special weakness in that group.

Metal Company Stocks

The copper and iron market is receiving a large amount of attention since the public statement of the United States Steel Corporation that new orders for July had fallen off 25 to 50 percent from those received last year. American Smelting also shows close sympathy with the metal industrials, but it suffered in addition today from the reports of the intended organization of opposition and competition. United States Steel was comparatively firm, being helped by the reports of a resumption of operations in the lake mining region. Foreign markets shared in the depression which existed here, and weak returns were made by the Bank of England and the Bank of France.

The favorable effect of the good yearly showing of the Atchison earnings has been discounted and more attention was paid to the comparatively unfavorable showing of the June net earnings owing to the constant vibration of prices, the net changes at the end of the day were mostly insignificant.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $884,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

HERE ARE THE CONTEST CONDITIONS

The last few days have demonstrated that the children have a very keen interest in The Journal's WANT AD CONTEST. The contest began yesterday. On each day, The Journal will give a prize of One Dollar to the boy or girl under 14 years of age, who submits the best 4-line verse, with drawing to illustrate it, extolling the merits of JOURNAL WANT ADS. These verses may deal with any of the advertisements appearing on the WANT AD page, as houses and rooms for rent, furnished or unfurnished; offices for rent; household furniture, real estate, or anything else for sale; situations and help wanted, clerks, laborers, servants, typewriters, office assistants, etc.; boarding houses—in fact, with anything that one hasn't got but wants, or with anything that one has, but wants to get rid of.

This gives the little folks a wide range for their ingenuity in constructing verses and drawing pictures to illustrate the verses. The winning drawing and verse will be printed in The Journal the second morning after the decision is reached, thus verses and drawings submitted tomorrow will be printed on Saturday morning, and the prize of One Dollar will be paid whenever the prize-winner calls at The Journal office for it.

We are taking this means of popularizing The Journal WANT AD columns, so WE SHALL REQUIRE THAT EACH CONTESTANT, IN SUBMITTING VERSE AND DRAWING, BRING TO THE JOURNAL OFFICE A WANT AD, AND THE MONEY WITH WHICH TO PAY FOR ITS INSERTION.

JOURNAL WANT AD rates are a cent a word for the first insertion, and half a cent a word for each subsequent insertion. Thus a 10-word ad would cost 15 cents for one day, for none are inserted for less than 15 cents; 20 cents for three days, and so forth, up to 40 cents for one week. Any of you, children, can figure out the cost of the advertisement.

There is money enough to go around among all the contestants, so get out and hustle, children. Find something about the house that your papa or mama would like to sell, and get them to spend a few pennies advertising it, or find something they want to obtain, and get them to advertise for it. The range of the WANT AD PAGE is limitless. It will get you anything you want, or dispose of anything you don't want, from servants to machinery, canary birds to real estate. Get your papas and mamas to help you by giving you their WANT ADS to bring to The Journal office, and then get out and canvass among your friends and neighbors, and get them to be users of THE JOURNAL WANT ADS. You can do this for the asking, and there is a prize of One Dollar a day to be won for the mere asking. Isn't that enough incentive for you to hustle?

Remember these rules:

Write the verses and draw the cartoons in black ink, using one side of the paper only.

Each verse must contain the words JOURNAL WANT ADS.

Each verse and drawing entered for the contest must be accompanied by a 15-cent WANT AD. The ad may be more expensive, but it cannot be any cheaper.

The drawing and verse winning the prize, with the name of the prize winner will be printed in The Journal, and the winner can get the prize by calling for it.

Here's a chance for all of the children to make a little spending money. Their papas and mamas will help them by giving them WANT ADS to bring to The Journal office.

Now, get out and hustle, children, and win the daily prize.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE.

In the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe.

Julia B. Foster, executrix of the estate of A. J. Foster, deceased, Plaintiff.

vs.

David T. Jones, Mrs. David T. Jones, wife of said David T. Jones, W. T. Burnham, and C. H. Gardner, Defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Nevada sends to David T. Jones, Mrs. David T. Jones, wife of said David T. Jones, W. T. Burnham and C. H. Gardner, GREETING:

You and each of you are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendants by Julia B. Foster, executrix of the estate of A. J. Foster, deceased, as plaintiff, in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service) if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county but within said district and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint.

This action is brought to set aside and vacate the judgment and the decree entered in the case of A. J. Foster vs. David T. Burnham, C. H. Gardiner and W. T. Burnham on the ground of fraud, to add Mrs. David T. Jones as defendant, to allow plaintiff upon the opening and vacating of said judgment and decree to introduce evidence to prove the facts set out and alleged in the complaint on file, to-wit: the perpetration by defendants of a fraud upon this court, the execution of a mortgage on Lot 5, Block U, and the south half of the west 100 feet of Lot 6, Block U, Reno, Nevada, the error in said mortgage, the knowledge of the error in said mortgage in defendants Jones, Mrs. Jones, and Burnham, to correct the error in said mortgage, to foreclose said mortgage, and remunerate Julia B. Foster as executrix of the estate of A. J. Foster, deceased, for the moneys and interest and attorney's fees secured by the said mortgage; all of which will more fully appear from the said complaint, which is on file in the office of the clerk of said court, at Reno, Washoe county, Nevada, and to which you and each of you are especially referred. And you and each of you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, at Reno, Nevada, this 11th day of July, 1907.

(SEAL) W. A. FOGG, Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe.

BEWARE OF THE SPECULATORS

Secretary Bride, of Commercial League, Says, "Don't Place Orders at Present Quotations.

FAMINE PRICED BENEFACTORS

Trying to Bind City on Contracts Before Arrangements Can Be Made for Lower-Cost Supply.

"Do not buy your coal from the speculators who are now endeavoring to close immediately contracts covering Reno's winter demands."

This is the advice which Secretary Bride, of the Nevada Commercial League, gives to the coal dealers of Reno. Mr. Bride, who has looked with suspicion on the avidity which has been shown by the representative of the Pacific Coast Fuel Trust, and the representatives of the Colorado speculators to close contracts at famine prices, was asked yesterday by The Journal to make a statement regarding these efforts.

"I do not believe that coal contracts should be signed at present prices," said Mr. Bride. "Several weeks will pass before the necessity for laying in a fuel supply becomes absolute. By then, perhaps, the market will be filled, and the price lowered.

Prices Asked Excessive.

"It is a certainty that numerous small operators are selling coal for prices very much lower than are asked by the trust, or by the Colorado speculators. For instance, coal can be purchased now in Denver for $3.25 a ton. The freight rates are high, of course, but they are not high enough to bring the price laid down in Reno up to the figure which is being asked."

As against this advice stands the assertion by the trust representative, and by the speculators, that they are engaged in a purely philanthropic effort, their purpose being to prevent the danger of a fuel famine in Reno during the coming winter. They would not, so they say, for a moment think of speculating in Reno's dilemma; but, nevertheless, they want $16 and $17 a ton for their coal.

Philanthropists Want Contracts.

On the subject of the offers made by former City Engineer Stewart, and the Webber Coal Company, to deliver $10 coal in Reno, these philanthropists-at-famine-prices have nothing to say. Mr. Husband, representative of the Pacific Coast trust, left last night for Tonopah and Goldfield, where he will urge the immediate signing of coal contracts. He promised to return to Reno the latter part of the week, and his parting word of advice to Reno dealers was, "Buy your coal before September 1, or we will not agree to make you delivery."

Roy Ridge, through whom the Webber Coal Company has made an offer of coal laid down in Reno for $10 a ton, was seen yesterday, and in response to a question expressed the opinion that, given transportation facilities to enable it to reach the market, the Webber people can supply the demands of the city.

Reno Dealers Holding Off.

"They have good mines," said Mr. Ridge, "and are supplying coal for the Daly-West and other big mines in that vicinity. The only thing about their offer is taht they wish to know as soon as possible whether there is any chance for them to get the business here."

E. L. Drappo, a coal dealer of Reno, describes the visit of the trust and Colorado mine representatives as having been made for purely speculative purposes. He argues that the big dealers and operators, having read of the danger of a famine, have rushed their men into this territory in an effort to gobble up the contracts while the question is one that disturbs Reno.

"I do not intend to buy coal until the price is settled," said Mr. Drappo. "I have ordered one car from the Rocky Mountain mines, and if the quality is up to standard, I have agreed to take five cars a month."

The Gazette's Advice.

The Gazette of last evening, in making editorial reference to the visit to Reno of the men who are seeking contracts at famine prices, and trying to close them before the city has a chance to obtain, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, or otherwise, a reduction in rates and a guarantee of such car service to the mines as will enable the reasonable-priced dealers to enter this market, said:

In one way or another the fuel situation will probably be solved. The efforts of Agent Clapp, Secretary Bride, of the Commercial League, an dthe Gazette are already bearing fruit, and men with coal to sell are making propositions with guarantees of deliveries. We suggest that the people of Reno look the situation over carefully, figure out their needs, and place an order now. The longer you wait, the greater is your danger. It is a pity that a person has to bother with such a thing as coal on days like we are having, but it is simply common prudence. Anyone who differs from us is welcome to a copy of our files for the months of January and February of this year, when lumps of coal were more to be desired than gold, yea, than much fine gold. Do it now.

NEW CATHEDRAL NAME SELECTED

St. Thomas Aquinas, Patron of Wisdom, Instead of Sts. Peter and Paul, Decided On.

DINNER SUNDAY NETTED $201

Copies of The Journal and Other Papers Placed in the Cornerstone Before Sealing It.

The name of the cathedral has been changed to St. Thomas Aquinas, the appellation of Sts. Peter and Paul's being discarded at the suggestion of Bishop Grace. Announcement of the new name was made yesterday by Rev. Father Tubman, pastor of the local parish.

Reno being the seat of learning of Nevada, the site of the university and center of culture, the clergy of this diocese thought proper to call the cathedral after the patron saint of wisdom. For St. Thomas Aquinas is considered the chief doctor of letters in the Church, his Summa Theologiae, written in 1260, being still used in ecclestiastical schools and colleges as a religious and historical text.

St. Thomas Aquinas was born during the first of the thirteenth century in Sicily, and was a descendant of royalty. He became one of the greatest teachers of the age, and establishing a large following, his disciples being known as the Thomists.

Before the copper box, that was placed in the cornerstone of the cathedral, was sealed, copies of The Journal, the Monitor, the Gazette Le Courier Nevada and the Virginia City Chronicle were added to the other articles that reposed therein.

At a meeting o fthe St. Agnes Society, yesterday afternoon, held in Father Tubman's residence, it was announced that $204 had been cleared on the dinner given Sunday by the religious organization. This amount was added to the organ purchasing fund and brings the total up to over $300.

The St. Agnes Society will conduct a refreshment stand on Labor Day.

MASKED THIEVES ROB OLD MAN THIS MORNING

Harry Greer, a retired blacksmith, 75 years of age, reputed to be quite wealthy, and living alone in his house at 112 1-2 West First street, was awakened this morning at 3 o'clock by two men standing at his bedside. They wore handkerchiefs as masks and told the old man to keep quiet or they would kill him. Flourishing the pistols in his face, they tied his hands, and covered his head up with the bed clothes.

They then went to the backdoor, opened it and let a third man in. Getting out drills and other tools they set to work upon the small, old-fashioned safe that Greer keeps in his bedroom. They were evidently inexperienced, for after a short time they set the old man up in bed and commanded him to open the safe. Greer told the mthat he could not see to do it, but after the robbers had threatened him with instant death unless he complied, he showed the mwhere a book was which contained the combination. They opened the safe themselves, and took from it $250 in cash, a watch and a gun. The old was was tied up again and they departed.

As soon as he was able to free himself, Greer went over to the police station and reported the robbery. He was able to give only a very meagre description of the thugs, but it is certain that they knew something of the old man's habits. They had let themselves into the house with a skeleton key.

BOND COMPANY TO IMPROVE RENO

New Corporation Will Issue an Installment Security and Put Money Into Buildings and Dwellings.

STARTS WITH $250,000 CAPITAL

Will at Once Begin Construction of a Large Warehouse—Residences for All Parts of City.

Yesterday articles of incorporation were filed by the Metropolitan Improvement Company of Reno, which has incorporated under the laws of the state of Nevada, its capitalization being $250,000, half of which is subscribed. The principal subscribers are H. E. Stewart, Samuel Mozingo, Charles McBride, John Sunderland and J. E. Moller. The latter, who is the manager, is recently from San Francisco, where he was connected with the Metropolitan Improvement Company of that city.

The principal object of this company is the improvement of the city of Reno, and the way it proposes to do this, according to the statement made yesterday by Manager Moller, is this:

The company will issue interest-bearing, profit-sharing installment bonds, payable in three years, and bearing 6 percent interest.

These bonds are to be sold on the installment plan, the purchaser paying $1.50 per week during 150 weeks, when he will have paid in $225. Attached to each bond are three coupons, payable in one, two and three years. At the expiration of three years, the bond may still be held for another two years, during which time it draws interest at the rate of 6 percent. Bonds are also to be issued for real estate, subject to a price to be decided by a board of arbitration.

This bonded indebtedness is to be paid from the increase in the property held by the company, and from the sale of property.

One of the first enterprises to be carried out by the company is the erection of a warehouse of sufficiently large dimensions to meet the requirements of the growing city.

Other first building plans are those which include the building of homes throughout the city. These are to be built with the money resulting from the sale of the bonds.

SPARKS PERSONALS

D. H. Bair, traveling engineer of the Sacramento division, spent yesterday in Sparks on business connected with the motive power department.

EUROPEANS ARE SLAIN BY MOORS

Moslem Attack on Foreigners in Moroccan Town Results in Eight Murders.

FRANCE AND SPAIN AROUSED

First Man Attacked Was Stoned by Fanatics and Then Hacked to Pieces.

(Associated Press Special Cable)

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Five Frenchmen, two Spaniards and one Italian were killed and their bones thrown into the sea on Tuesday by the Arabs of Casa Blanca, Morocco, who objected to the harbor improvements there. The attack began by stoning a European, who was then hacked to death.

The foreigners of the place rushed to their residences. Seven were cut down as they ran. Since then many foreigners have escaped from the town, and refugees are arriving at Tangier with tales of the slaughter.

Arabs Attack Escort.

M. d'Euville, the French consul, demanded that the pasha provide an escort for the recovery of bodies. The pasha said at first that he had no cartridges, but upon further representation he finally supplied an escort.

When this rescue party reached the scene of the attacks it was charged by a number of Arab cavalrymen and forced to fight. In the meantime, while the Jews and Europeans were taking refuge on board the German ship, the Moslems began to attack the laborers employed in the harbor.

They fired upon the shore boats and killed several men, whose bodies later were burned. One workman, who tried to swim off to the ship, was shot in the water.

Cruisers to the Scene.

The French cruiser Galilee is probably at Casa Blanca now, having been ordered to demand that the place be kept in order. Another cruiser has been sent from the Azores, and a Spanish cruiser has been ordered to the scene. It is believed the Algeciras agreement will be annulled.

The Temps attributes the outbreak at Casa Blanca largely to a lack of decisive French action in Morocco. It calls attention to the fact that the real assassins of Dr. Mauchamp, the Frenchman who was killed in a Morocco city last March, have not been punished, and that the governor of that city has been neither imprisoned nor discharged. It contrasts this course of action with Germany's vengeance in 1895, when a German subject was killed, and insists that energetic action is a national duty as well as a duty to the powers.

CLARK ROAD IS NEAR GOLDFIELD

Construction Work to be Completed and New Line to Enter Camp in Six Months

NOW ONLY 30 MILES AWAY

Branch Lines Will be Built to Give the Road Connection With all the Southern Camps

(Special Dispatch to the Journal)

SALT LAKE, Aug 1.—C. O. Whittemore, formerly at the head of the legal department of the Salt Lake route, and now vice president and general counsel for the Las Vegas & Tonopah railroad, was in Salt Lake yesterday on a business trip. He returned last evening to Goldfield, where he will remain until after the completion of the line into that city.

The headquarters of the Las Vegas & Tonopah railroad will be in Los Angeles, but the main branch office will be in Goldfield. Mr. Whittemore is now arranging for the right of way of the road into Goldfield and on to Tonopah.

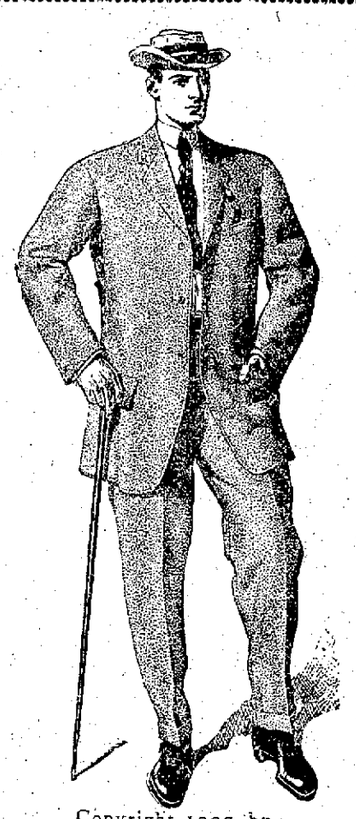

"The development of the mines at Goldfield in the past month or two," said Mr. Whittemore, "insures for that city a population that will make it the metropolis of Nevada. The outlook for Goldfield's future is brighter now than at any time in its history.

"With the completion of the Las Vegas & Tonopah railroad into Goldfield next fall will come a large increase in the population of the city and an element of permanency that the mining camp of a few months ago lacked. By Thursday the railroad will be completed into Gold Mountain, which is half-way between Rhyolite and Goldfield. The materials are all on the ground and the work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. A mile of track is being laid each day. Barring any unforeseen delay the road will be completed into Goldfield by September 15.

"We intend to proceed with the construction work on from Goldfield to Tonopah without delay. Already two branch lines are contemplated and within a short time we will have transportation connections with all the important camps in that section of Nevada."

Repairing the Capitol.

CARSON CITY, Aug. 1.—Repairs to the Capitol began today and before they are ended the dome will have been partly reconstructed. An appropriation of $3,500 was made for the purpose by the last legislature.

JILTED WOMAN PUTS MAN SHE LOVED IN SHADOW OF GALLOWS

WHEN HE WEDS ANOTHER SHE CAUSES HIS ARREST

Tells Story of Old Man's Murder and Casting the Body in a Deep Well

ACCUSED DECLARES GIRL DID THE DEED

"I'll Lay the Crime on You if You Marry," He Says Was Her Threat

(By Associated Press)

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Aug. 2.—Charging that his former sweetheart, Anna Bentley, committed the murder of which he is himself accused by the girl, Robert Sassaman will present the most novel defense in the criminal history of Missouri when he is placed on trial Monday.

The case was called in June but the venire of 60 men was exhausted without securing a jury, and a continuance granted to August 5th. Owing to the great popular interest in the crime it will probably be exceedingly difficult to find 12 men who have not formed decided opinions.

The case against Sassaman rests upon the assertion of Anna Bentley that the accused man, who was once her lover, killed Carl Miller for purposes of robbery. Against this charge Sassaman will declare that Miss Bentley committed the deed and informed the authorities that he did it, through anger at his marriage to another woman.

It is only the old story of a woman scorned, if Sassaman is to be believed—a woman who did not stop at murder and perjury to obtain revenge. Sassaman is of a wealthy family and some of the best attorneys of this section have been employed to defend him.

Old Man Killed.

Carl Miller, aged 60, was killed May 30, 1904, two and one-half miles west of Holden, and his body thrown into an abandoned well. Nearly five months had passed before any inkling of the crime became public, when Anna Bentley made the startling accusation against Sassaman. Officials went with Miss Bentley to the scene of the crime, and in the slimy water of the abandoned well the decomposed body of the

DEAL WILL MEAN OVER SIX MILLIONS TO "CON."

Ryan and Guggenheim's Man, Who made Deal Possible, Now on Ground

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

GOLDFIELD, Aug. 2.—B. M. Baruch, who holds an option on 1,000,000 shares of Goldfield Consolidated stock at $7.75 a share, and who loaned Nixon & Wingfield $1,000,000 to enable them to complete the acquisition of Combination Mines for the purposes of the merger, arrived in Goldfield last night. Mr. Baruch, who is understood to be acting as the representative of Thomas F. Ryan, the eminent financier and trust organizer of New York, and for the Guggenheims—these being the interests that are directly concerned in the option on 1,000,000 shares of the merger stock—came to Goldfield in a private train chartered by Senator Nixon, president of the Consolidated. He was accompanied by his brother, H. W. Baruch, W. H. Brevoort, and by Count Perany of Paris, the latter representing the French capitalists to whom Baruch recently sold 300,000 shares of the Consolidated stock. Senator Nixon was also of the party, he having picked up the other gentlemen at Hazen.

Object of the Trip.

While Mr. Baruch declines to discuss the object of his visit to Goldfield until after the work which brought him here shall have been completed, it is confidently believed that it is made preliminary to an exercise of the option which he holds on the stock, and which calls for a cash payment of $7,750,000 before January 12, 1908.

When the party arrived this morning, the members were met at the station by General Manager Finch, of the Consolidated company, Walter Geddes, the Guggenheim engineer who has been recently engaged in making an exhaustive examination of the merger properties and who was two weeks ago elected general superintendent of the merger's mining operations, and George Wingfield, Senator Nixon's business associate.

The party spent the entire day inspecting merger mines. Almost immediately after their arrival they entered automobiles and were driven to the Mohawk, where, donning overalls, they descended the main shaft. Going from shaft to shaft on the various merger properties, they have made a fairly exhaustive examination of the principal mines. The work will be continued tomorrow, and the party will leave Goldfield Saturday evening for San Francisco, making the outward journey as they came, in Senator Nixon's private train.

Dividend Expected.

Tomorrow morning a meeting of Goldfield Consolidated directors will be held, J. B. Hubbard being due to arrive in the morning from New York to attend the meeting. Senator Nixon declined to state this evening what would be done at the directors' meeting, but it is believed that a dividend will be declared. All of the subsidiary

COAL DEALERS ASKED TO GATHER TO SOLVE RENO FUEL PROBLEM

ROOSEVELT MADE RAILROADS BOW TO CAROLINA IN RATE WAR

FEARED STATE'S RIGHTS ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

Forced Recalcitrant Transportation Lines to Admit Power of State to Fix Maximum Rates

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. — That President Roosevelt is responsible for the victory which North Carolina won last Sunday in her fight for acceptance the state of the 2-cents-a-mile passenger rate, is the latest gossip of the capital. And the stories that are being told in this connection are well authenticated.

According to these stories, President Roosevelt became alarmed over the possibilities of the old doctrine of state's rights being revived in such form as to make it a factor in the next presidential election, and he gave the railroads which were concerned in the North Carolina quarrel to understand that the matter must be settled at once, under penalty of even more stringent federal regulation than has yet been attempted.

It is certain that the Carolina railroads, headed by the powerful Southern system, yielded in their fight against Governor Glenn only under the strongest pressure. Up to the moment when they agreed to accept the law, pending a test of its validity in the supreme court of the United States, they had the situation entirely in their hands. They accepted the humiliation of absolute rout without a word, and the law is now in full effect.

History of the Case

The history of this case is most interesting, because of the fact that it involves questions with which many states which have within the last few years passed laws for the regulation of railroads and the fixing of rates are intimately concerned, and because it raises, also, questions which are likely to figure largely in the next national election.

Following the example of Wisconsin, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and some 13 or 14 other states, North Carolina passed an act fixing two and a quarter cents per mile as the maximum charge which the railroads might charge for passenger transportation within the boundaries of the state. When the law became operative, the railroads declined to obey it. North Carolina promptly jailed two ticket agents who, on instructions from the companies' main offices, declined to sell tickets at the reduced rate. The railroads retaliated by going into the federal courts and procuring writs of habeas corpus requiring the release of the prisoners. State officials declined to recognize these writs, or to bow to the authority of the federal courts.

State or Federal Control

This left the situation in an ugly state. The position of the railroads was based upon the theory of jurisprudence which gives foreign corporations redress through the federal courts. The attitude of the state was that the matter of railroad rates within state boundaries is one over which the state alone has authority, the Commercial League Is Certain Concerted Action Will Stop Extortion.

Object Is to Defeat the Speculators Who Are Trying to Get Famine Prices.

Secretary Bride Will Lay Two Cheap Fuel Proposals Before the Gathering

That Reno is slated to be the victim of a speculative conspiracy which aims at enormous profit from the sale of coal required to avert a fuel famine during the coming winter is the belief of Secretary Bride of the Nevada Commercial League.

That this conspiracy may be defeated and that coal may be brought into Reno so that it may be sold for approximately one-half the price tentatively fixed by the speculators, and approved by their allies, journalistic and otherwise, Secretary Bride requests that all retail and jobbing coal dealers in Reno assemble at his office in Center street at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

At this meeting Mr. Bride will lay before the local coal dealers propositions which he has in hand and which if acted upon will enable coal to be laid down in Reno for from $10 to $12 a ton, as against $16 to $17.50, f. o. b. Reno, asked by the speculators. These propositions which Mr. Bride will submit will cover both domestic and imported coal, the domestic coal coming from the mines in Utah and Wyoming and the imported coal entering the United States by way of San Francisco.

Cheap Coal Available

The Utah and Wyoming mines from which the freight rate to Reno is $6 per ton offer to supply Reno with all the coal needed at $4 per ton. These mines require, however, that orders at this price be placed early so that they can arrange for car service, and car movement.

The proposition to lay imported coal down in Reno at a price from $4 to $5.50 under that asked by the speculators, comes to Mr. Bride from N. D. Whitely of Berkeley, from whom Mr. Bride has received a long communication.

Mr. Whitely is in a position to furnish the coal at this price, but states in his letter that because he is an independent dealer, opposed to the Pacific Coast Fuel Trust, which is

NEW SCHEDULE FOR FREIGHTS

Agent Clapp Takes List to Head Office at San Francisco Last Night

DISTRIBUTING RATES SUBMITTED

Local Situation in Railway Matters Is Identical With That at Spokane

A new set of distributing freight rates, prepared by Secretary Bride of the Nevada Commercial League in conjunction with Division Freight and Passenger Agent E W Clapp of the Southern Pacific Company was taken to San Francisco last night by the local official of the Hirriman line Mr Clapp will confer with the traffic experts of the railroad and before he returns, hopes to bring back the report that the request for reductions has been granted

These new rates will enable the merchants of Reno to ship their goods in here in carlot lots and then reship as far east as Little Mountain and as far south as Rhyolite in broken lots competing with the wholesalers of San Francisco and Sacramento

Developing Commerce

If granted and Mr Clapp will use all his influence to obtain this concession it is anticipated that a line of commerce will be built up that will make more forceful the other argument that the League has in mind That is reduce all transportation charges until Reno shall have become an intermediate terminal with the advantages of any important inland city

The situation here is identical with that in Spokane Spokane is 300 miles from Seattle nearer Tacoma and farther from Portland The business men contend although the city has long enjoyed a distributing rate the charges are still too high and that the city is discriminated against to the advantage of Seattle Tacoma and Portland forcing the purchase of goods from the merchants in those cities at a less cost although the haul is longer

Reno is about 250 miles from San Francisco a little more than 150 miles from Sacramento and still farther from Salt Lake Comparative conditions are felt in Reno as in Spokane Neither city is a terminal point and the residents of each feel that it should be Spokane is winning its fight Reno has a good chance to win

League Won't Stop

When the proposition for lower freight rates on class commodities was presented to Mr Clapp it was with the understanding that the Commercial League would not give up the contention for still lower reductions The civic organization supported by the sentiment of the leading business men means to continue the struggle for the rights of the community until the Southern Pacific railroad shall have granted every concession demanded by local trade conditions and put Reno in the same position with the terminal and intermediate terminal points of the Pacific coast

The success of the agitation in Spokane was reported in The Journal during the Interstate Commerce Commission investigation last spring A telegram from the Washington town last night to The Journal gave the following statement regarding conditions there now pending the decision of the Commission

Spokane's Case

"Spokane's rate case awaits the decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission This decision is expected in the fall The contention of the business men here, presented to the Commission is that the freight charges to Spokane are too high Evidence of the cost of building the northwest railroads was offered, the cost of maintenance operation and present property values were argued and it was shown that with reduced tariffs the lines could operate at a good profit on the investment

'Water competition is urged by the tidewater terminals These cities Seattle Victoria Tacoma and Portland, contest the claims of Spokane, and the railroads back them up in this contention—that water competition keeps the inland rates at the prices scheduled now

"Granting the right of Spokane to demand a lower rate the coast cities have joined in the suit and ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for a still lower distributing rate than is now enjoyed by the seaside terminals."

SACRAMENTANS MAY BUILD IN THIS CITY

C E MacIntyre, a contractor and capitalist of Sacramento is in Reno looking into the congested building conditions here of which he had read in The Journal and came up for the purpose of examining it from an investment standpoint

"There is nothing very strange in the fact that you have not been able to keep up the building of the city with the growth of population," said Mr MacIntyre "It is a case that is found not infrequently in towns situated like Reno, with sudden and immense demands for housing capacity. What I can't understand though is that with so much capital as is represented in Reno, local people do not take advantage of the opportunity for investment offered by building and renting I shall look the situation over tomorrow and if I find things as they have been told me I may interest some other Sacramento people with me in a building enterprise on a large scale here"

Regiment Passes Through.

The 29th regular infantry, consisting of 50 officers and 900 men, under command of Major Pendleton, passed through Reno, bound for San Francisco yesterday afternoon The regiment occupied four trains It is en route from Fort Douglas and Fort Deebesney, Utah to the Philippines to serve two years and two months there relieving the 18th infantry The band in the first section gave a short impromptu concert for the benefit of several hundred people who assembled at the station

SCHULER TO DO THE RAZEEING

Contractor's Forces Installed in a Shed to Watch the School of Mines

READY TO REPEL BOARDERS

He Is Determined That Superintendent Anderson's Men Shall Not Touch the Stone

That President Stubbs of the University of Nevada is the victor in one part of the controversy with Eugene Schuler of the Northwestern Construction Company is shown by the delayed completion of the Mackay School of Mines Dr Stubbs has won in that he set out to prevent the building of the structure unless it was done with the materials best suited to the climate

But there is Eugene Schuler He claims victory, too He says that Dr Stubbs has no right to intervene in the trouble with Architect Bliss As evidence of his disregard for the official representative of the board of regents Schuler refuses to listen to the conditions imposed by Dr Stubbs

The attitude of hostility that both Mr Schuler and Dr Stubbs have assumed resulted yesterday in the construction of a shed according to the latter where guards employed by the Northwestern Construction Company rest in the shade while watching the School of Mines

Mr Schuler is determined that another attacking party headed by Mackay's superintendent Mr Anderson shall not finish the demolition of the brick walls Mr Schuler knows that those walls will now have to come down and be rebuilt but he prefers doing the work himself

Further trouble impends until word is received from McKim Mead & White the architects and representatives of the donor of the building

CHARGED WITH MURDER BY GIRL HE JILTED

old man was found On the evidence of the girl the coroner's jury rendered a verdict that the victim had come to his death at the hands of Sassaman

According to the story told the officers by the woman she and Sassaman made the acquaintance of Miller and Holden and persuaded him to accompany them on a camping trip to Kansas They were delayed by a swollen stream and on the night of May 30th at the camp fire, Sassaman slew the old man crushing his skull with an ax The alleged motive was the possession of Miller's team and wagon A heavy stone was fastened to the body and it was thrown into the old well Sassaman and the woman proceeded to Kansas, spending some time in Topeka In September Sassaman, according to Miss Bentley deserted her to go to North Dakota with the intention of killing a sweetheart of hers of whom he was jealous She immediately returned to Missouri and informed on him

Blames the Woman.

Sassaman's story puts the crime on the woman The night of the murder as the old man leaned over the fire to light his pipe the woman rendered to Sassaman struck him on the head with an ax killing him instantly She then said to Sassaman

From now on Bobby you do as I say or you will get a dose of the same medicine I am a woman and if you should tell that I killed Miller anybody would believe you If I say you did it, they'll believe me and hang you If you marry that girl in St Louis or have anything more to do with her I'll lay this murder on you the day you get married

After several quarrels with Miss Bentley in Topeka Sassaman left her and went to St Louis, where he married the girl of whom the Bentley woman had been jealous The couple were married in Kansas City and notice of the issue of the license was published in the Kansas City papers Miss Bentley read it and immediately made good her alleged threat to accuse Sassaman of the murder of Miller

Owing to its unique features the case has attracted wide attention, and popular opinion is about equally divided as to the guilt of the man or the woman while many believe that both had a hand in the murderous affair and are now attempting to shift all the blame on their partner in guilt

FEES FOR SEVEN MONTHS EQUAL LAST YEAR'S TOTAL

County Recorder's Receipts for Instruments Attest Reno's Growth

The remarkable growth of Reno and Washoe county is attested by figures compiled by County Recorder Stoddard showing fees received by his office during a period of 12 years The most surprising showing is made for the last seven months since the beginning of 1907, the receipts of which are within a couple of hundred dollars of the total for 1906

In July of 1895, as far as the compilation reaches back, the office received in fees for recording instruments $107 85 In 1900 the amount for the same month had increased to $201 40, or almost double During the next five years this amount was more than doubled, the receipts for July, 1905 being $563 55 The business for July, 1906, showed a small loss, being $511 90, the total for the year also showing a decrease But the month of July just ended more than makes up for last years decrease by an increase which almost doubles last year's figures, the receipts being $925 45

By years the increase has been as follows 1895 $1762 60 1896 $1583 20, 1897, $1554 95 1898, $1207 75, 1899, $2040, 1900, $2446 15, 1901, $2946 50 1902, $3189 65, 1903, $3827, 1904, $4596 45, 1905, $5360 45, 1906, $5273 30 And for the first seven months of 1907, $5069 40.

ROCKEFELLER IN A JOLLY MOOD

Standard Oil Says He Isn't Sick and Has no Secret Mission in Chicago

TALKS AS HE PLAYS GOLF

The Power of the Press to Spoil a Drive Is Wonderful' He Declares

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O, Aug 3—'I learn from the newspapers that I am dangerously ill and also that I have started on a secret mission to Chicago remarked John D Rockefeller today in which he began his daily game of golf

What I learn about myself in the newspapers is frequently very interesting very interesting indeed and he smiled

Mr Rockefeller has not missed his daily game of golf in a month One day at least he played in the rain rather than give up his fun and exercise The good drive on the first hole was succeeded by a topped ball from the second tee that rolled some 75 yards and stopped

You must have pressed,' suggested one of the golfers

The power of the press to spoil any sort of a drive is wonderful' commented Mr Rockefeller gravely

By the way, have I had that operation yet or am I to have it soon?' he asked

I have an engagement to play golf Monday and the papers must be me to Minnesota and back in time for that or I shall discharge them from the case"

On the last hole Mr Rockefeller said

I have made the mistake all the morning of trying to tie you gentlemen I also have tried to beat you That is where many people make a mistake in life They try to do as well as somebody else when the thing is to try to do better

Then the philosopher stood over his ball and won the hole with a 7-foot putt

Alabama Revokes Railway Company's Franchise Under the State Law —Now What"

NEITHER SIDE WILL DISCUSS IT

Corporation Took Suit to Federal Court, Which Was Forbidden by the Statute

(By Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala Aug 2—Secretary of State Frank N Julian has revoked the franchise of the Southern Railway Company because it has removed a case from the state circuit court of Talladega county to the United States circuit court at Birmingham

This action of the Southern is in violation of the two outlaw acts passed by the state legislature last winter, each of which provided that such removal should be punishable by a revocation of the charter of the offending railroad One of these laws the better known, was declared unconstitutional by United States Judge Thomas G Jones, but the other has never been enjoined by the federal courts

For this reason the action of the state official was taken under the provisions of the second of these outlaw acts ' The state insists that this second outlaw act is still in force and it is entirely proper to act under its provisions while the adherents of the railway contend the act of revocation is in contempt of the federal court injunction at least in spirit

Neither side would make an authoritative statement of the probable course to be pursued in the controversy today

GIRLS GO BACK; NOT AS UNION

Telephone Strike at San Francisco Ended Yesterday by a Vote of 260 to 4.

OPERATORS LOST THE FIGHT

Some Small Concessions, But Recognition of Organization Denied by the Company.

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 2—The strike of the telephone girls ended today After a 5-hour conference between representatives of the Telephone Girls Union and officials of the company a meeting of the union was held and by a vote of 260 to 4 the operators decided to end the strike Some small concessions were made to the girls but their main point recognition of the union was denied them

The telephone company will have open shop hereafter There will be no discrimination against employes because of union affiliations and all competent non-union girls will be retained This latter question was one over which the conference spent most of its time

The union demanded the discharge of girls who had filled the places of strikers but the company will keep its present force

The strikers will apply for reinstatement as individuals and will be put to work whenever vacancies exist Many chief operators will be displaced by women Dinnoon and afternoon recess will be allowed and the advanced wages granted a month before the strike will be paid

OIL BOOM IS GROWING BIG

Hundreds of People Scattered Over Peavine District Looking for Good Locations

RUSH IS CERTAIN TO ENSUE

New Claims Being Taken up Over a Large District North of Mayberry's

Several sections of land have been taken up west of town in claims of 40 acres, and hundreds of people were scattered over Peavine district yesterday looking for vacant spaces to put down their posts with location notices on oil land.

During the week the oil excitement has grown to such proportions that everyone who has been able to get out there has stuck a post with a notice in the ground, until now the district closely resembles a porcupine.

Oil Locations

As the law gives the locator 60 days in which to file his notice, very few in proportion have as yet been recorded. But the county recorder expects to be swamped shortly with them. From a prospector who came in yesterday after spending several days in the district, it was learned that during the week hundreds of claims had been taken up.

Many persons go out who have not the slightest idea about oil indications or general formation but they are anxious to get in on the ground floor and they stake out claims wherever they can find ground that is not already taken up. They depend upon a gusher being struck by the company that yesterday began boring, and many have no intention of doing any work on their claims. Having 60 days in which to do the assessment work prescribed by law, they rely upon oil being found long before the expiration of that time, and anticipate selling their claims in the rush that is bound to ensue, whether there is oil on their ground or not.

That is the way a great number of people netted a tidy sum at the time of the Beaumont, Texas, oil boom, and some of the oil experts on the ground here predict that Reno will experience in a very short time an excitement that will closely rival that famous period.

Optimistic Oil Men

It is a significant fact in connection with the oil discoveries in the immediate vicinity of Reno that the optimistic and most confident people are those who have had wide experience in the business, both in locating and developing. Their assurance is not to be shaken by the few skeptics who walk around looking dubious and try to discourage the busy ones with knocks.

Over $20,000 have already been spent by one firm, before beginning to drill. Other groups of men are preparing to drill, and the indications are that within a very short time the Peavine district will present a scene of activity never before witnessed in the vicinity of Reno.

The locations now being made are spreading over a district considerably north of the original locations in the neighborhood of the Mayberry ranch, running in that direction perhaps a little over three miles and then curving easterly. As the surface indications are strong throughout this stretch of country, the late locators are just as sanguine of the value of their claims as are those who got there early and were able to get stakes down close to the first locations made.

Drilling Begins

Jerkline drilling at the oil well west of Reno began yesterday morning, and by Monday the management hopes to be down 100 feet, when the casings will be put in place and drilling with the bits started.

Jerkline drilling, owing to the fact that the line is carried around a drum and worked by hand, is considered to be dangerous, as the line may slip from the drum, and anyone within reach may be hurt. Steam was gotten up in the boiler yesterday and the day passed and everything found to be in readiness for work.

Mr. McLeod said last night that the indications for successful drilling were better every day. Two new seepages have been found, one to the east, and another to the southwest, and both at a sufficient distance to indicate that the spot chosen for the drilling of this well is the proper spot to bring it well within the oil channel.

Several experts, not hitherto mentioned, have given a favorable opinion of the ground. One of these, Mr. Elwood, a pioneer of western oil fields, who a short time ago visited the site of the well in company with James May, gave it as his belief that a following of the surface indications would lead to oil at depth; and G. A. Smith, a well known expert from Los Angeles, who served several terms there as councilman, and who has had large experience with the oil industry, has given it as his opinion, after examining the formation and indications that he had never seen a better prospect anywhere, and that the drill would find oil without much doubt.

PRIEST SLOWLY PASSING AWAY

Father Reynolds of St. Mary's, Virginia City, May Not Live Till Noon Today.

THE SACRAMENT ADMINISTERED

Suffered a Stroke of Paralysis Seven Months Ago and Has Never Recovered.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

VIRGINIA CITY, Aug. 2.—Father Francis A. Reynolds, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church, is reported tonight to be dying from the effects of a paralytic stroke sustained nearly seven months ago. Dr. Sullivan issued a statement at 7 o'clock that the well loved priest may not live until noon tomorrow.

The last sacraments were administered today by Father Murphy. This is taken as an indication of expected death, and 3000 people here anxiously fear the end.

Father Reynolds was born and ordained a priest in Dublin. He came to the United States 20 years ago. Part of the time he was assistant to Father Wallrath at Colusa, Cal. In 1904 he was appointed rector of the Catholic parish here.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

T. F. Dunaway, general superintendent of the Nevada-California-Oregon railroad, has landed in France, and will tour Europe before returning here in two months.

The Fallon Eagle has started a fund for the purchase of a fire engine for the Churchill county town. A benefit show will be given this evening there for the purpose of swelling the fund. Mrs. F. X. Rausch, formerly of this city, and a talented singer, will be one of the stars at the performance.

Ernest L. Bingham and family have gone on a camping trip to Bishop, California.

R. W. Parry is confined to his home at Fourth and Sierra streets by a bad cold. His physicians say he will be about again in a few days.

Edward D Lachman will leave this evening for the City of Mexico on business for Charles Butters & Co., Ltd. He expects to be away six weeks.

Capt. Alter and wife, Mr. J. L. Durrett, and Mrs. Merrill will start on an extended camping trip tomorrow, going through the mountain district between Nevada and California. Their principal stop will be on a large private game preserve about 50 miles southwest of Reno.

Miss Philippine Mitchell, of Tonopah, is visiting friends in Reno.

Mr. O. A. Phipps and wife, who have been in Loyalton for the past two years, have returned to Reno, where they will make their home in the future.

HOW "HARVE" PUT A STOP TO CHEATING

Would Not Stand It Even in His Game of Solitaire.

Another good story is told of "Harve" McAdams, of Elko, the writer, Alfred Chartz, an attorney of Carson, being reminded of it by the story published in the Journal a few days since regarding the experience of the same character at a Fourth of July celebration in Carlin, last month. Mr. Chartz says:

"I was in Elko, reporting the case of the North Commonwealth vs. the Found Treasure mining companies, in 1888, at which time Elko was quite a lively town, and the 'Gem' saloon was about the liveliest spot in town during the evenings, as there was much gambling going on.

"One evening about 8 o'clock there was a large crowd in the main room of the 'Gem,' and in a small card room, playing solitaire, was 'Harve' McAdams.

Suddenly the crowd in the large room was stampeded by a perfect volley of pistol shots from the small card room, and we all fell over the furniture and each other getting out of the house.

"After a time, there being no further demonstration of hostilities from the card room, I, with two or three others, ventured to enter the house and push the door open. There sat 'Harve,' calmly shuffling the cards, the air heavy with powder smoke.

"'What's the matter here?' was asked by someone who had come prepared to see at least one corpse.

"'Matter enough!' replied 'Harve,' as he laid out the first card for the new game. 'The hound was cheating, and I caught him at it.'"

Chief Clerk Ulrichs of the Overland hotel leaves tomorrow for San Francisco to have an operation performed. During his absence John Swanton will assume his duties and the day side will be in charge of Charles Noble.

PIUS X IS A POPULAR POPE

Anniversary of His Elevation to the Papacy to Be Celebrated Throughout Italy

TOMORROW IS THE OCCASION

Messengers Arrive at the Vatican from Many European Sovereigns With Rare Gifts

ROME, Aug. 2.—Sunday will mark the fourth anniversary of the elevation of Cardinal Guiseppe Sarto, patriarch of Venice, to the papacy as Pius X., and preparations have been made for celebrating the occasion with due solemnity in all the churches of Italy.

The college of cardinals will be received by the Pope in collective audience and the head will read an address of congratulation and wish the Pope many more years of pontificate in the name of his colleagues. The several colleges of prelates will also extend their greetings to Pius and all the military and lay officials of the Vatican will send donations to the papal apartment to convey their best wishes to the venerable prelate of the church.

Messengers have arrived from many European sovereigns, the emperor of Austria marking the occasing, as in past years, by a gift of old wine for the personal use of His Holiness. Messages of congratulation are already pouring in from all parts of the world, cables having been received from many prominent churchmen and laymen of America.

Pope Pius is Popular.

Despite the troubles in France and the black clouds that have at times hovered over the Vatican, the personal popularity of Pius X has not in the least decreased since he ascended the throne four years ago. It is believed here that the Pope, by reason of his personal affability, democracy and piety, will, regardless of temparary obstacles obtain in the end more advantages for the Church than some of his more scholarly and diplomatic predecessors, who placed between them and their followers the insurmountable dignity portaining to their great and holy office.

Pius X is just as humble today as he was on August 4 four years ago, when he was suddenly raised from the commonplace position of a provincial bishop to the highest spiritual office in the world. The dignity attaching to his position, the pomp and splendor of his surroundings, the veneration of millions of followers in all parts of the world and the autocratic powers conferred upon him have left him simple and unspoiled.

His Liberal Policy.

For a time the well known liberal views of the Pope in his relations with the Italian government were checked when his position as the head of the church placed him face to face with the house of Savoy. Gradually, however, he has recognized the necessity of a reconciliation to save Italy from becoming a godless and churchless nation, no matter how many of the temporal rights of the Holy See were to be lost by the compromise. His first move in permitting Italian Catholics to take part in elections for the first time in 34 years, was the beginning of a policy of liberalism which he has since steadfastly carried out. This attitude of conciliation he has determined to carry out in order to save Italy to the church and check the growing power of the Social Democrats and anti-clericals.

CHARLES KUCHS' WIFE IN RENO

Returns From Oakland After Unsuccessful Effort to Obtain Her Husband's Forgiveness.

HIS FAMILY STANDS BY HIM

Woman Stands Around Station With Her Dog for Hours, Undetermined What to Do.

Mrs. Nellie Kuchs, wife of Charles Kuchs, who was sent to the penitentiary from this city for having killed Ed Ferrell and was recently pardoned, returned to Reno yesterday from Oakland. Her husband refuses to live with her again because of the disgrace she brought on him and his relatives support him in his attitude.

With the little dog in her arms—the same animal that caused her to draw a revolver, and threaten to shoot her father-in-law as reported in The Journal a few days ago—Mrs. Kuchs left the train here, and stood around the depot for several hours, seemingly undetermined where to go.

No familiar face was in the crowd that recognized her, and finally, discouraged, she drew off in the seclusion of a doorway and cried.

She will probably become a waitress now that she is without funds. She worked in the dining room at the Arlington hotel for a short time last winter.

WEATHER BUREAU SAYS JULY WAS DIFFERENT

Reno, during the month of July had, in two particulars, weather much different from the average in July, the difference being in temperature and in rain fall. The variation of temperature from 48 degrees on the first to 96 degrees on the last day of the month gave an average of 68 degrees or 1.7 degrees lower than the average for the last 20 years, only five corresponding months having been warmer. The highest record ever made here was 100.

The two thunder storms of the 27th and 28th gave a total rainfall of 0.23 inches which is greater than the average, there being only five years on record that have exceeded this. The year 1896 was remarkable, having had a downpour of 1.03 inches. Since September 1, 1906, 13.11 inches of rain have fallen, which is an excess of 2.81 over the precipitation of corresponding periods, which would indicate a very wet season for this part of Nevada. The sun shone almost continuously, as 24 days were absolutely clear, seven partly cloudy, and none recorded as cloudy.

With an average velocity of 5.9 miles an hour, 4382 miles of wind blew over Reno during the month.

Shall the Conspiracy Succeed?

THERE is not a coal dealer in Reno who should absent himself from the meeting which Secretary Bride, of the Nevada Commercial League, has called for 1 o'clock this afternoon. The objects of that meeting are as vital to the dealers in coal as they are to the consumers of fuel.

A determined effort is being made to make Reno the victim of a conspiracy to extort $20 a ton for coal during the coming winter. The men who are attempting this conspiracy are seeking to take advantage of a threatened fuel famine. They are not figuring in their calculations that imported coal can be laid down in Reno for from $12 to $13 a ton, nor are they giving publicity to the fact that they can buy domestic fuel in Utah and Wyoming for $4 a ton at the mines, which would enable it to be laid down in Reno for $10 a ton. They stand on the proposition that they must have for the commodity they pretend to be able to sell a price which will compel the local dealers to retail it at $20 a ton.

As against this proposition, which means nothing short of a sandbogging campaign by a few speculators, Mr. Bride is prepared to lay before the dealers two low-priced coal propositions. One of these is from a man who agrees to furnish Reno with a high quality of imported coal for from $12 to $13 a ton delivered here. The other is from Utah and Wyoming mines which offer to supply the city's fuel requirements at $4 a ton, enabling the dealers to lay coal down in Reno for $10 a ton.

Between the purposes of the speculators, and the propositions which Mr. Bride is prepared to submit there is no choice. One means yielding to as bold a macing effort as was ever undertaken by men whose pocket nerves are particularly sensitive when it comes to taking advantage of distress to extort profit, and the other means supplying Reno with her winter's fuel at a fair price. The dealers, if they are alive to their interests, will not hesitate to co-operate with the Commercial League in its effort to insure to the city a square deal on the fuel question.

This sort of co-operation will not cost the dealers a penny. Rather will it mean money in their pockets if, by the energy of their co-operation they make the effort successful. It is incontrovertible that with coal at $20 a ton there will be consumed a quantity greatly less than if the price is one-half or two-thirds that figure. It is also incontrovertible that the dealers can make just as much money per ton by retailing at $10 as they can by retailing at $20. Their interest lies, therefore, in the direction of stimulating consumption, so that their per ton profits may be multiplied by an increased number of tons consumed in the city and adjacent parts of Nevada. And the surest way to stimulate consumption is by selling coal at a price which will make it available to all, rather than yielding to a hold-up scheme which contemplates making coal a luxury, available only to the rich, during the coming winter. Let any coal dealer in the city figure this out, and the result will be so certainly to his advantage that he will attend the meeting this afternoon and pledge himself to heartiest co-operation in the effort to secure low-priced coal for Reno.

There are two obstacles in the way of the success of this movement. But they are not unsurmountable. On the contrary, they are of that character which should make men anxious to meet and overcome them. On the one hand is the dread of the Berkeley dealer, who offers imported coal at $12 or $13 laid down in Reno, that the Southern Pacific Railroad will not place cars at the slips at which his ships will discharge. This dealer is in opposition to the Pacific Coast Fuel Trust, which is the heaviest contributor of coal tonnage to the San Francisco end of the Southern Pacific. It would be an easy matter for the railroad company, under pressure from the fuel trust, to deny this shipper cars until such time as demurrage charges on his vessels should drive him to sacrifice his cargoes to the trust. That is one side of the question. The other side is that under the amended Interstate Commerce Act, the Interstate Commerce Commission is empowered to deal promptly with just such cases of discrimination, to heavily penalize the offending railroad, and to enforce its orders for fair treatment in the matter of car distribution through the federal authorities. Virtually the same question is raised with respect to the supply coming from the Utah and Wyoming mines, where it is procurable at $4 a ton, or $10 laid down in Reno. Should the contracts be placed with these mines, the Reno dealers must agree to co-operate with the mines in the matter of effecting delivery. But the problem, in that instance, can be handled in identically the same manner as in the other, the Interstate Commerce Commission being ever ready, under the law, to compel the railroad to give a square deal to all concerned.

Mr. Bride's suggestion that the local coal dealers amalgamate their requirements, so that the quantity of coal required may be ascertained, and that contracts for this quantity be mutually placed is a most excellent one. Once this is done, the dealers will be in a position to unite their interests in the matter of insuring delivery. And again Mr. Bride has a plan which should commend itself to all the dealers. This is to go directly to the Southern Pacific, and get from that road a promise of fair treatment in the matter of car service and movement. As the basis for such a demand upon the railroad company is Mr. Clapp's letter, in which the threat of a fuel famine was first advanced, that the railroad equipment is ample for all requirements, and that there can be no car shortage during the coming winter.

If this demand is met by the Southern Pacific, it can be given opportunity to show its good faith by the promptness and regularity with which it moves the coal tonnage to Reno. And at the first sign of a failure to keep such promises as it may make, the road may be hauled before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The proposition is as clear as daylight. It is simply whether the local dealers, obeying the promptings of self-concern, will band their interests to make coal available to Reno at reasonable prices and thereby stimulate consumption, or whether they will submit to the extortion which the speculators who seem to have allied themselves for the purpose of sand-bagging the city and making exorbitant profits out of Reno's distress, are attempting.

If the Reno dealers are favorable to reasonable prices, larger consumption, and bigger profits for themselves, they will attend the meeting this afternoon, and make it sure that the conspiracy to mulct the city shall not succeed.

North Carolina's Rate War Victory

POWERFUL railroad interests have been routed horse, foot and dragoons, in the fight with North Carolina over the two-cent maximum passenger fare rate. The questions at issue there were almost identical with those which have been raised in the attempt of the five railroads of Nevada to defeat enforcement of the Railroad Commission Act passed by the last session of the legislature.

The state passed a law regulating passenger railroad rate. The railroad companies declined to obey it, and took their contention into the United States courts, accordantly with the principle that foreign corporations have redress against a commonwealth through the federal judiciary. While this principle holds true, the railroads in North Carolina have overlooked one important fact, and that is that the practice of the United States courts has been not to interfere, or assume jurisdiction, in matters of state legislation where the powers of the state are separate and distinct from those of Congress until after the state courts shall have failed to refused to act. This practice has been repeatedly confirmed by the higher United States courts, and while a foreign corporation seeking to avoid compliance with a state enactment may occasionally find, as the railroads in North Carolina found in Judge Pritchard, a federal judge who will disregard it, it is almost invariably adhered to by the higher courts to which all such cases go on appeal.

The power to regulate the rates which shall be charged for transportation within the boundaries of a state is exclusively vested in the states. It is only when the hauling of transportable things passes beyond state boundaries that it becomes interstate commerce, subject to federal regulation. North Carolina did not attempt the regulation of interstate commerce. Neither does the Boyd-Syphus Bill propose such a thing. In each instance, the regulation proposed has been entirely with respect to intra-state matters. Why, therefore, instead of waiting until the suit brought by the five railroads to restrain the Railroad Commission from performing its duties shall have dragged its weary length through the courts, should not Nevada challenge the powers of the federal courts in precisely the same manner as was done in North Carolina? There is no reason, and if the state officials would back up the Railroad Commission in defying the federal court order, the victory for the people would be as quick and decisive in Nevada as was that won for them in North Carolina.

Beating the Associated Press

THE JOURNAL is proud of its membership in the Associated Press, the greatest news gathering organization on the footstool, with ramifications and connections that give it access to every important piece of news that is really worth printing. To "beat" the Associated Press on a news item of importance to any considerable portion of the United States is an achievement of which any newspaper may be proud. The distinction of having thus "scooped" its own news gathering association belongs to The Journal. Below we present on one side of the parallel column a news story which the Associated Press did not discover until yesterday, when it telegraphed broadcast over the country the news The Journal had published three days previously. To get the news while it is news, Reno and the state of Nevada should read The Journal:

From The Journal of Tuesday

But by far the most important result of his (Garfield's) work was a decision to cut down the public appropriation for reclamation work from $15,000,000, spent last year, to $6,800,000 to be spent next year. This ist a cut of more than 50 percent in the sum the government will spend. It was agreed to after the conference between the Secretary and the reclamation engineers, and is explained on the ground that the enormous increases in the public expenditures make retrenchment necessary.

From A. P. Dispatches of Friday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—It was announced today upon the arrival of Secretary of the Interior James A. Garfield, that following the conference in Nevada, between Mr. Garfield and Director Newell and the engineers of the reclamation service that the government expenditures for reclamation work in California, Arizona and Nevada would be cut from $15,000,000 last year to $6,800,000 for the present year. All of the projects in this district with the exception of the Salt river work, are nearing completion.

There will be no brass bands used in connection with the Cortelyou boom for the Presidential nomination. George isn't built that way.

And then again this talk about Roosevelt's throwing "Big Bill" overboard may be only a sly ruse to try to start some talk at Oyster Bay.

Foraker seems to have started in on the dangerous political sport of hitting every head in sight. It will get him plenty of newspaper space, but not much else.

No lawyers have been heard objecting to the legal mix-up over the question of railroad passenger rates; those who have not received retainers from one or the other side of the controversy are still hoping.

Well, suppose Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, is feeling a little chesty? He has a right to, regardless of what the decision of the supreme court will be. It isn't often that a governor gets a fall out of a federal judge and a big railroad system, at one and the same time.

BANK WRECKING IS THE CHARGE

Government to Probe Into Affairs of the Broken Aetna Concern in Montana

FORMER SECRETARY ARRESTED

Accused of Taking $175,000 to Defraud Depositors and Creditors of the Institution

(By Associated Press)

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 2.—County Attorney Murray today filed complaints charging four distinct felonies against A. B. Clements, who was secretary of the wrecked Aetna Banking & Trust Company at the time Augustus Heinze was president.

Clements was arrested last night.

One charge is that Clements took $175,000 of the bank's money May 28, 1903, and failed to make entry of the fact in the books of the bank, with intent to defraud the depositors and creditors.

Several months ago Clements was arrested on an indictment found against him in the district court of the District of Columbia where the Aetna conducted a branch bank. He was arraigned in Washington and is now out on bonds.

It has long been rumored that the government's intention is to probe the Aetna deal to the bottom and prosecute everyone responsible for its wreck. To that end a well-known lawyer has been retained to assist in the prosecution of both the civil and criminal suits that have grown out of the Aetna bank failure. Some sensations may be expected.

TAFT TO BOOM HIS CANDIDACY ON TRIP

will be political and will reflect the Secretary's own position. He will not appear as the favored candidate of President Roosevelt.

No one appreciates more acutely than the Secretary the handicap he has carried hitherto in being regarded as the residuary legatee of Theodore Roosevelt. From the most intense Roosevelt states have come protests against the President assuming the attitude of dictating who his successor shall be. Mr. Taft is anxious to go before the people in his own right, and after his tour of Oklahoma he will continue westward through New Mexico and Arizona, and probably into California, making political addresses until the time arrives for his sailing to the Philippines. In that tour he will try to make it plain that if he is to be considered for the presidency by the next Republican convention it must be on his own record and merits.

Quiet Activity in New York.

While Secretary Taft is traveling through the west there will be much active though quiet political work in the east. Under the surface in New York today there is going on some of the most earnest and significant work of the national campaign. Conferences are almost of daily occurrence among political leaders and powerful influences that usually keep hidden while playing the game are at work.

In New York the secret contest now being waged is between the advocates of Governor Hughes and the friends of Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou. Only a few weeks ago the discussion of the Cortelyou boom was generally considered in the light of good-natured compliment to a man who would not take it seriously. Today no one familiar with what is going on in New York political circles has any doubt that Mr. Cortelyou is being considered seriously as a candidate by a large and at times powerful element among the Republicans of that state. Those who watch the movements of the Secretary on his frequent visits to New York from his Long Island summer home say that he can be found in consultation with men who in the past have been influential, in determining New York's choice for the presidency.

Hughes to Be Feared.

The Cortelyou boom in New York has assumed a serious character since Governor Hughes came into the limelight as a possible candidate. As a political quantity Governor Hughes is a puzzle to the party leaders. He trains with no faction and knows no leadership but his own. That he has already gained a hold on the people is admitted by his bitterest critics, and that hold may compel the old-time leaders to yield and send a delegation to the national convention next year pledged to his support.

To meet the Hughes boom a number of the state leaders are in favor of declaring for Mr. Cortelyou. President Roosevelt is not enamored of Governor Hughes. Friends of the administration have always felt that Governor Hughes failed to show the gratitude he should for what the President did toward his election, and for the support that the national administration gave his reform propositions.

The President would doubtless prefer to have New York declare for Mr. Taft above all other candidates, but no Taft sentiment has developed in the empire state, and it appears that no effort will be made there on his behalf. It is the Taft policy, besides, not to antagonize the candidacy of anyone in the candidate's own state. This is being observed, so far, in Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois and Indiana.

Fight in Massachusetts.

In Massachusetts a bitter fight is in progress between Senators Crane and Lodge over the question of indorsing a presidential candidate. Senator Lodge, as a close friend of the President, is desirous of indorsing Secretary Taft, and Senator Crane is heart and soul in favor of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania.

Those best acquainted with Massachusetts politics do not hesitate to say that while Senator Lodge is more in evidence in a public way, the real leader and power in the Republican party of the state is W. Murray Crane, the junior Senator, who seldom makes a public speech, but who is closer to the voters and the common people of the state than any other man in the public service.

COAL DEALERS TO MEET TODAY IN EFFORT TO THWART MACERS

being represented in Nevada in the effort to exact famine prices by Robert Husband, he may require the assistance of Reno's business men to force the Southern Pacific railroad to deliver cars to the slips at which his vessels will unload, and to move the cars to Reno after they shall have been loaded.

Coal Dealers Must Aid Mines

This matter will be taken up at the meeting of the coal dealers that Mr. Bride aims to hold this afternoon. In addition, the Secretary of the Nevada Commercial League will ask the dealers to estimate the whole quantity of coal for which they are willing to contract for the winter, so that the mines which are willing to supply Reno's demands may be promptly notified of the number of tons that will be required. He will then ask the coal dealers to form an association auxiliary to the Commercial League, the purposes of which shall be active efforts in the direction of aiding the mines that are willing to give Reno a square deal, and Mr. Whiteley should any portion of the fuel required be contracted for from him, in insuring a car service sufficient to move the tonnage, and, also, to force the Southern Pacific railroad to move the tonnage so offered.

Should the coal dealers of the city respond to this call for a meeting this afternoon, Mr. Bride is confident that the attempts of the speculators from Colorado and of the representative of the Pacific Coast Fuel Trust to force Reno coal dealers to close immediately, and at famine prices, contracts for the city's winter supply of coal, will be defeated.

No Reason for the Hold-up

He argues that with coal offered at the Utah and Wyoming mines at $4 a ton, f. o. b. the pit-mouth, and with the freight rate from these mines to Reno only $6 a ton, there is no legitimate reason why the dealers of this city should be held-up and sandbagged by speculators who are in league with the railroad, into paying $16 or $17.50 for a commodity that can be delivered here for $10. The only obstacle for the delivery of $10 coal in Reno is, as Mr. Bride has figured it out, the willingness of the Southern Pacific to furnish cars for loading, and then to move the cars after they shall have been loaded.

It is not Mr. Bride's idea in connection with this meeting to start any fight against the Southern Pacific. He will, however, suggest to the coal dealers, that, having ascertained the volume of the city's fuel requirements, and having verified the possibility of obtaining $4 coal at the Utah and Wyoming mines, or of having imported coal delivered in Reno for not to exceed $13 a ton, the dealers should then carry the case up to the Southern Pacific railroad, and make a formal request for a guaranteed car service and certain movement of the cars.

Bride's Position Misrepresented

If the dealers take these preliminary steps and are denied the cooperation of the Southern Pacific, it will then be time enough to lug the railroad before the Interstate Commerce Commission, with a petition for relief.

Mr. Bride declared last night that there was absolutely no truth in the statement credited to him in an evening newspaper to the effect that he did not know of any company or individual that would sell at a lower price than $16. He said that instead of making any such statement, he had steadfastly maintained that $10 coal is a certainty, if the Reno dealers will take concerted action to accept the offers made by the mines that are not engaged in the conspiracy to extorte famine prices.

The same newspaper which credited Mr. Bride with this statement, that he declares he never made, last evening quoted three of the speculators who have been trying to close contracts to supply Reno's demand.

H. E. Stewart is quoted as offering $16 coal. Husband of the Coast Fuel Trust is quoted as being ready to deliver coal in Reno so that it may be retailed at $20 a ton. Representatives of the Colorado speculators are quoted as being willing to sell to the dealers at $17.50 a ton, which means $20 to the consumers.

From these statements the newspaper referred to argues, "The fuel dealers who have come to this city to offer coal for sale may be trying to take advantage of the threatened famine, but as they all seem to be offering coal at nearly the same price, it does not look as if the people will be able to get coal much cheaper than $16 per ton."

The fact that uniformity in the bids has from time immemorial been taken as prima facie evidence of collusion among bidders seems to have been entirely overlooked by the newspaper which is urging the people to contract for $16 coal in the face of the fact that officials of the Commercial League are positive that with concerted action by the business interests of the city Reno's fuel demands during the coming winter can be supplied for between $10 and $13 a ton.

It is to bring about this concerted action and effect the saving of from $75000 to $250,000 (the difference between what Reno will pay for its fuel supply if bought from the Utah and Wyoming mines and what she will pay if the speculator's conspiracy succeeds) that Mr. Bride has called the meeting for today.

RAILROADS BOW TO ROOSEVELT'S ORDERS

constitution reserving to Congress and the federal government the power to deal with interstate commerce only. In the clash over this point, the Department of Justice, to which Federal Judge Pritchard reported the refusal of the state officials to obey his orders, dispatched an assistant attorney-general of the United States to North Carolina. This officer, Mr. Sanford, got matters in such shape while he was at Raleigh that the United States Supreme Court would have been forced to sustain Judge Pritchard.

With North Carolina defying the federal mandates, there would, in such an event, have been nothing for the President to do but order regulars into that state to enforce the court's decrees, or else to let the authority of the federal government be flaunted.

The prospect of such a situation is what alarmed Mr. Roosevelt and caused him to send word to the railroads that they must surrender, accept the Carolina law until the courts shall have passed on it, or take such alternative as he might choose to offer. The latter, it is stated, would have taken the form of a demand upon the next Congress for additional legislation regarding railroad rate regulation. This, it is understood, would have taken the form of an act giving the federal government power to fix all railroad rates, carrying into effect the theory first enunciated by Secretary Root and endorsed by President Roosevelt that under the "post roads" provision of the constitution, the Congress may assume authority to regulate in every way all forms of transportation that have, in the slightest degree, any thing to do with the carrying of the mails.

It was in fear of this, and because the President's ultimatum, based upon his fear that the injection of the state's rights question into politics might drive Republicans from control of the national government next year, left them no room to question his earnestness, that the railroads humiliated themselves to the point of accepting defeat in the North Carolina imbroglio.

While it is believed that other states which have enacted railroad rate and regulation acts may await the action of the supreme court in the North Carolina case, the Administration is fearful unless some one of these states may break beyond limits, and by imitating the action in that state again bring to the fore the question of state's rights.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WITH JOURNAL IN RATE FIGHT

Attorney-General Stoddard said last night that the fight The Journal is making against discriminatory charges by the railroads of Nevada will work up public sentiment to a pitch equalling the feeling at the time of the Boyd-Syphus Bill was under fire in the legislature. He predicted that when residents of this state awaken to the extortion that is being practiced by the transportation companies they will demand the investigation of the service that The Journal is now agitating.

No Half Way Measures

More than that—Attorney-General Stoddard feels that the fight will not have been won until every concession provided for in the maximum rate law is gained. He believes in no half-way measures. He would revise the tariff in this state as a whole before the distributing charge is accepted.

The alleviating changes in the transportation schedule, that are being studiously made by the Southern Pacific, are he asserts, the result of the policy: "Give them (Nevadans) something to make them shut up. Watch us (the railroads) beat this attempted enforcement of the laws."

During the preliminary skirmish, when the agents of the corporations that control traffic in this state appeared before Governor Sparks and represented their side to the chief executive, Attorney-General Stoddard was present. He was enabled then to study their methods and realized on first acquaintance with the facts that the plea of legal departments of the railroads—"you will make us operate at a loss if you pass this measure"—was ill-timed and exaggerated beyond the imaginings of the uninformed.

Startling Disclosures

In the work that is being done by the Railroad Commission since its appointment, Mr. Stoddard has followed the developments of comparative rate schedules. The disclosures have been more startling than the commissioners themselves supposed at the beginning. Now that he knows those things, Mr. Stoddard is determined to enter the fight with The Journal and win for this state what the people desired on electing him to office.

Judge J. F. Bartine, as conservative a man as ever read the statutes, and who has labored for three months on the evidence of discrimination that is abundantly found in the tariffs of the different railroads in this state, is chairman of the Railroad Commission. On the eve of his departure for a vacation in San Francisco three days ago he said: "The shippers have no idea of the injustice being done them. They will not know until this suit against the existence of the Railroad Commission is heard in the federal courts."

Judge Bartine will return in seven days to resume the investigation and prepare the evidence for th hearing.

Anxious for the Fray

H. J. Darling, chairman of the railroad committee of the Nevada Commercial League and the man instrumental in preparing the schedules on which the attorneys based the Boyd-Syphus Bill, is impatient for the time to come when he can return from a San Francisco hospital and take up the fight against the discriminating railroads. For weeks Mr. Darling has been ill, but even when his health was poorest, the thought of the labor he had successfully performed buoyed his spirits. He knows the winning of the fight will bring inestimable good to the residents of Nevada.

Out in Ely, Lieutenant-Governor D. S. Dickerson, who is a member of the Railroad Commission appointing board, is leading the expression of dissatisfaction at the management of the railroad supplying White Pine county with the necessaries of life.

GRAFT CASE JURY HARD TO GET AT 'FRISCO

men to fill the trial panel.

The first peremptory challenges of the trial were exercised at the afternoon session, three by the prosecution, five by the defense. Two arbitrary challenges now remain with the state and five with Halsey.

An echo of the Haywood trial was heard in the proceedings today. Several of the Haywood jurors, after a verdict of acquittal had been returned, intimated that they voted "not guilty" on the strength of the instructions given by Judge Wood as to the application of evidence, the presumption of innocence and the suspicionable character of accomplice testimony. In the cross-examination of Halsey jurors a question is now being asked in form substantially as follows:

"If after listening to the evidence you believed in your heart that Mr. Halsey was innocent, but the instructions of the court as to the law leaned to a conviction, would you follow your own belief or would you be guided by the court? Would you vote 'not guilty,' or 'guilty.'"

First Negro Talesman

One juror, James H. Rutherford, a leather merchant, declared that he placed more reliance on his own sense of "justice than statutes," and frankly said that unless the judge's instructions agreed with his own belief and opinions, he would cast the law aside. He was challenged for cause and stood aside. Nearly every one of the five jurors similarly challenged by the defense had declared in the course of his cross-examination that he would be "guided solely by the court."

The first negro to present himself in any of the bribery-graft cases was briefly examined and disqualified himself this morning in the process of selecting jurors to try Theodore V. Halsey, of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company for bribery. He was James L. Wright, a mulatto barber. He confessed to a fixed opinion and was excused on challenge for cause by the prosecution.

Clash of Counsel

An interesting talesman was Charles C. Bradford, Answering a question by the prosecution as to whether he could give the defendant a fair and impartial trial, he said:

"I would not want to acknowledge before a court that I was so prejudiced that I could not give a man a fair hearing. Yet few of us realize how far our prejudices carry us. We do not find that out until we get into a jury box. I would endeavor to be fair and set my fixed opinion aside if I were sworn. That's the best I can say."

The examination of Mr. Bradford gave rise to the day's first clash of opposing counsel.

"We do not want anybody but fair jurors," said Mr. Johnson of the prosecution. "If you gentlemen," turning to Halsey's lawyers, "want him excused—"

"We have not challenged him," interrupted Mr. Schlessinger, "and I do not see the reason for all this excitement. I will put a question to the juror. Mr. Bradford, if you were indicted for a crime and brought into court for a trial would you plead guilty?"

Attorney Called Down

Johnson launched an indignant objection, but was cut short by Judge Dunne, who said:

"The objection is sustained. Mr. Schlessinger, I will ask you to frame only such questions as go to the juror's state of mind."

"I shall ask such questions as I deem proper, under the law and the rulings of the court," retorted Schlessinger.

"Yes, 'under the rulings of the court,'" observed Johnson sarcastically.

"I am compelled to submit to them," was the rejoinder.

Much time was consumed in the examination of George J. Couchot, a quiet-spoken, self-contained young Frenchman, who wore a pink geranium as a coat flower.

A Self-Educated Man

The brief history of whose life as drawn out by District Attorney Langdon revealed a steady upward climb from a pick and shovel job with the Pacific States Telephone Company on the streets of San Francisco to a civil engineer's diploma and a present position as draughtsman under the board of public works.

Eventually Mr. Couchot was excused on a city employes exemption.

"Are you a member of the Olympic club?" was one of the questions asked of talesmen. It was understood to be inspired by a recent happhappening at an Olympic club banquet, when President Patrick Calhoun, of the United Railroads, under indictment on charges of bribing supervisors, was cheered and carried around on the shoulders of the diners—whose sentiments, so expressed, aroused the resentment of some of those present.

companies of the merger that are on a producing basis, have held their annual meetings, and the funds in their treasuries are believed to be now available for dividends, the major portion of which will go to Consolidated, and enable it to make a dividend payment."

Senator Nixon, the only member of the party who would talk this evening, said:

"I have nothing to say as to what will be done at the directors' meeting, nor anything to say as to the business of the members of the party now in Goldfield, except that they are interested in Goldfield Consolidated, and are making an examination of the properties of the company.

"Watching the Ticker."

"Consolidated properties were never in better condition. As I have said many times before, we are pursuing the policy of developing a mine and will put the mine on a dividend-paying basis as soon as advisable. I will not say when that will be. I have not received a single complaint from a Consolidated shareholder because we have not paid dividends. All the complaints have come from stockholders in other companies.

"There will be no labor trouble whatever in Goldfield. The Haywood verdict shows that the American flag protects both the rich and poor, and unless there is a great panic this fall investments will be heavy in Goldfield stocks.

"There is too much watching the ticker in Nevada railroad management as well as in Nevada mining."

RENO'S OFFER FOR FIGHT ONLY DEFINITE ONE

"BEAT RENO'S OFFER OR YOU'LL NOT GET FIGHT"

GANS' MANAGER PUTS IT FLAT TO MANAGERS

He and "Willus" Britt Meet Tonight to Arrange Match--Bids Received Monday

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Now thta the conclusion has been definitely reached that Britt and Gans will fight on one of the September holidays the promoters of ring contests have developed a feverish activity. The wires are burning from many quarters with queries and conditional offers. Reno's offer of $35000, the largest purse ever hung up in ring history, is as yet the only definite proposition that has been received, and May's enterprise stands a very favorable opportunity of being rewarded.

Reno the Place.

Nothing doing unless there is a guarantee better than that of Reno," declared Ben Selig, manager for Gans, tonight.

The whole question is one of the most money, with a more than kindly disposition shown toward the Reno club because of its initiative in the way of a big purse.

It is reported that Tex Rickard is ready with an offer of $40000 for Ely, Nevada. Booming the camp is said to be one of his purposes.

All Others "Talk."

James W. Coffroth of this city is eager to pull off the match at Colma, and it is estimated that he could draw a $65000 house on Labor Day. It seems that everybody is talking about what he might do, except the Reno man, who alone has a clear out-and-out proposition to offer.

Selig and Willus Britt will meet tomorrow night to arrange the match and the matter of bids will be taken up Monday night.

VICTORS AGAINST VERDI

The Reno Victors will play the Verdi baseball nine at the State Park tomorrow afternoon. One of the stars of the game is expected to be Nick Rossi, a former University of Nevada pitcher.

The contest will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and the admission will be 25 cents. The line-up of the local aggregation is DeLonchant, pitcher; Bird, catcher; Nease, first base; Somers, second base; Cancer, third base; McDonald, shotstop; Burk, right field; Manetti, left field, and Hogan, center field.

BARRIER RISES AT SARATOGA NEXT MONDAY

RACE-FOLLOWERS WILL FIND THE LID ON TIGHT

Noted Home of the Green Table and the Wheel No Longer "Wide Open"

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The annual exodus of horsemen and fashionables to Saratoga Springs, preliminary to the great racing meet which opens Monday, is on today. While interest in the contest of thoroughbreds at the spa is not so pronounced as in some former years, due in part to the rival meet at the Empire City track, near Yonkers also beginning Monday, a large number of New Yorkers will be in evidence. The great feature will be the Saratoga handicap, valued at $10,000, in which Peter Pan, the Brighton handicap winner, and numerous other fast horses will do the mile and a quarter stunt.

The gambling which was once the attraction for thousands of "sports" from all over the country will be only a memory during the coming racing season at the spa. Not only have the gilded palaces been closed, but the "blind tigers," as the partially concealed gambling parlors are termed by the gaming fraternity, will not be allowed to run as in past years. Saratoga's reputation as a "wide open town" bids fair to go glimmering.

The Governor's Hand.

It is known that the governor has put a "bug in the ear" of the district attorney and sheriff of Saratoga, and this may have something to do with their declarations that they will make raids and arrest all offenders if the least sign of gambling manifests itself during the coming racing meet.

The racing at the Empire track during the Saratoga season will keep away hundreds who have made it a custom in the past to journey to the watering place, and some of the residents of Saratoga who believe in a wide open town are beginning to worry about the future. The season at Saratoga this year would otherwise promise to be a long and profitable one.

No less than 29 stakes, some of them among the richest of the season, will be decided during the meeting. The principal event is the Saratoga handicap, worth $10,000, of which the winner will get $8500. The Saratoga Cup is for 3-year-olds and upwards and has $7500 added money. The distance is a mile and six furlongs. The Champlain is a handicap for 3-year-olds, with $3000 added, and will be run over the mile and a furlong course. The Delaware handicap, also for 3-year-olds and upwards is to be run at a mile and has $1500 added money. The Amsterdam and the Catskill are both for 3-year-olds and upwards and are selling stakes. Each has added money to the amount of $1500, the distance of the former being a mile and of the latter seven furlongs.

BAER AND YEAZELL HAVE A TALE OF WOE

Former Lights of the Capital Team Say Manager Ulmer Is Lemon Peddler

A lemon of the juicy variety was handed to them, according to Catcher Baer and Pitcher Yeazell, of the defunct Carson nine, by Manager Ulmer, of the Goldfield team. When Ulmer sent for them two weeks ago, he advanced them transportation, and they say he promised them a position on the team and a trip with the aggregation that the southern promoter was to take east.

"When we got down to Goldfield," said Baer, "after playing two games with the miners, we had to hustle for ourselves in order to eat. Mr. Ulmer wouldn't jar loose. He told us that, as there was no more league, he would assume no responsibility. When he refused to dig up transportation back north, we realized that we had had it handed to us, so we 'decked it.'"

The yarrived in Reno yesterday morning, sore in mind and limb. Later they went to California, where they will join the Auburn team.

STOCKS, MINES and MARKETS

BULLS CAPTURE THE MARKET

Goldfield Stocks, Led by Consolidated, Are Rapidly Climbing to High Places.

MERGER NEARING $9 MARK

Other Nevada Stocks Remain Very Inactive, and Market Is Weak.

Notwithstanding the fact that a very large part of the market for Nevada stocks has departed from San Francisco, and taken up its abode in New York, at times a very lively flurry occurs in the exchange rooms of the San Francisco board, and this is naturally, to a great extent, a reflection of the New York market. The report for yesterday shows that the bulls have captured the bay city market, notwithstanding the avowed bear principles of the brokers, and that Con Mines led the vanguard in its march to higher prices.

Consolidated Mines opened very strong at upwards of 30 points better than the closing of the day before, and while this proportion was not maintained by the others, all were strong and active.

Tonopah remains weak and inactive, and Bullfrog securities are little better.

TRAIN LOAD OF HIGH GRADE ORE

Mohawk and Combination Make a Shipment Consisting of 11 Car Loads.

RODGERS LEASE MAKES STRIKE

Thought to Be South Extension of Little Florence, and Is Very Rich.

Under a Goldfield date line of July 31st, the Recorder prints the following interesting figures concerning the output of Goldfield:

High-grade from the Mohawk and Combination mines is being sent out regularly by the Consolidated Mines Company without any display. An entire train load left last evening for Miller's Siding. Five cars contained 200 tons of ore running from $3 to $5000 a ton. The average of the shipment will run close to $600 a ton. Besides this, there were six cars containing 250 tons that will run at least $150 a ton.

This makes five cars of the train worth $120,000 and six cars worth $37,500, or a total of $157,500 for the train.

The Mohawk mine alone is shipping at the rate of four full cars each day. This means about 160 tons every three shifts. Upon the authority of an official of the company who expressed his opinion last night the properties of the Consolidated Mines Company are growing richer each day.

That little siding at the Ish & Sheets lease on the Combination is a busy hive these days. Yesterday afternoon there was an entire train load of ore there ready to be moved to mills and smelters. Among the cars were noticed two of high-grade sacked stuff from the Combination and the same number from the Mohawk. There were five car loads that had to be loaded from the big incline shaft on the Ish & Sheets, as well as six other carloads from different properties in the neighborhood.

From the top of the car fourteen ore teams could be counted and all were busy hauling ore. At three places ore was being loaded directly into the cars from the ore chutes.

An immense strike was made yesterday on the Rogers lease on the Red King, one of the many properties owned by the Florence at 310 feet. The entire face of the drift is in very high grade rock and it is undoubtedly the south extension of the Little Florence, and judging by the appearance of the quartz that was shot into at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a richer ore shoot has been opened up than the Little Florence, it showed fourteen inches of quartz that assayed up to $892.40. Twelve hours later they broke into ore that showed free gold, and the best of it would run at least $10,000 a ton. The find was made some 125 feet northwest of the shaft. Here a junction of two veins in the immense dyke was entered.

MANUFACTURERS AND COPPER

Present Condition of Copper Market Unsatisfactory Because of Stocks and Bonds.

RED METAL PRICE NOT HIGH

Views of One of the Largest of Manufacturing Firms on Subject.

One of the points of greatest interest to the mining world recently has been the output, price and consumption of copper, in connection with which the views of the National Conduit & Cable Company, are of interest. In part, they are as follows:

The kernel of the copper situation lies in the present unsatisfactory situation of the money and bond market. No permanent improvement can be looked for until it becomes possible to finance new enterprises with greater facility than can be done at present. The trouble is not with the price of copper, but the root of the difficulty is traceable to the inability of various utility corporations to secure the necessary funds for improvements.

While the principal producers were maintaining a nominal price of 25 1-4 cents, recently, there were sellers anxious to do business for much less money.

There is probably considerable copper in the hands of consumers carried over from old contracts and the apathy of some of the prominent manufacturers would seem to confirm the belief that supplies of raw material are by no means exhausted.

Business is getting down on a more normal plane. The ideas of the financial and industrial world are not quite so inflated as they were.

The Scoville Manufacturing Company, of Waterbury, Conn. one of the largest consumers of copper in the United States, is in the market for copper which it is ordering with instructions to make deliveries as quickly as possible, in some cases within a fortnight.

The price which the company is paying on its present orders is 22 cents a pound for the Lake brand. Purchasers of copper by the Scoville company have been from among the small producers, who sell direct to the trade, one purchase of 100,000 pounds being made from a Lake Superior mining company producing about 3,000,000 pounds of copper a year. The closing of negotiations for this sale, practically cleans up the selling company's supply of copper on hand.

RICH IN GOLD AND SILVER

Mines of Klondyke Half Way Between Goldfield and Tonopah Are Making Showing.

ROY RIDGE HAS SAMPLES

Ledges Carry Gold and Horn Silver and Were Producers Many Years Ago.

Roy Ridge returned from Goldfield Monday morning with a large sack of high-grade horn silver specimens from the Nevada Klondyke Mines Company property, which is situated at Klondyke, about half way between Tonopah and Goldfield.

Mr. Ridge recently negotiated a deal with his former partner, Uri B. Curtis, by which he has secured control of this company stock, and plans are now under way for equipping the property with machinery and doing big development work.

The Nevada Klondyke Mines Company has quite a unique history, inasmuch as it has been a producer of high-grade placer gold as well as extremely high-grade silver ore. In 1897 some $10,000 in placer gold was extracted from one of the gulches contained in this property, and it was subsequently worked at a profit. Prior to the discovery of Tonopah and Goldfield a large quantity of high-grade silver ore was mined and shipped to Candalaria, the nearest shipping point, at a nice profit, but owing to the hardships of getting ore out of this country at that time, no great amount of work was ever done, the deepest workings being less than 20 feet. It was while on his return from Klondyke that Jim Butler and his burro discovered Tonopah.

A. E. Barnes and associates, who have recently opened up a property a short distance away, have already begun shipping high-grade to Klondyke station on the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad, a distance of about three miles from these properties.

Mr. Ridge received several applications for leases while in Goldfield, and states that these leases will undoubtedly be let after the company decides to reserve certain blocks of ground for company work. There are tons of ore on the dumps now, that with very little sorting will make a shipping product, some of which is literally plastered with horn silver. Mr. Ridge believes that with such a remarkable showing, situated as it is, between two such great camps, warrants one in believing that this can be made a shipping mine, and with that in view is making arrangements for an active campaign of development.

GEORGE DAWSON WRITES FRIENDS

Tells About Country to the South of Battle Mountain and Its Mineral

PLENTY OF OPEN COUNTRY

Principal Minerals are Gold, Silver Lead and Antimony in High Values

George Dawson, a prospector well known in mining circles, writes from Neece, Nev., near Battle Mountain, regarding the country with respect to mineral indications, and while not overly enthusiastic, still indicates that the country presents a splendid field for development and prospecting, to those who know something about minerals, and who are not hampered by a fear of over exertion in the matter of digging.

The letter reads: "I promised a great many friends and acquaintances in Reno that I would let them know what I found in this country, if anything, and as I have not the time to write individual letters to all, I take this means of letting them know what this section is like.

"This place lies about 20 miles to the south of Battle Mountain, and is easy of access from that point. The principal minerals encountered are gold, silver, lead and antimony, and I have assays from some of the ground prospected, running all the way from $100 to $700 per ton.

"Nearly everything so far found is high grade, and very little quartz shows on the surface, and the best ore found seems to carry lead or antimony.

Plenty of Open Country

"There is plenty of open country here, almost unprospected, as there has been no rush or excitement arising from discoveries, and it is a good country to prospect. There is a good field here for the man who will not shy at a pick and shovel, and who knows something of minerals, but it is a poor field for the inexperienced.

"I do not mean that the country has never before been prospected, as a large number of claims have been located, and the location work done, but there still remains a large area of country untouched, which offers a good field, and I am confident, that, in time, this district will be a strong producer. Very little is known concerning that portion of the district lying outside of Lander county, and it all looks good. There is an abundance of good water, which is a great advantage, which is by no means the only one possessed, but the best way for those interested, is to come and see the country for themselves."

SALOON HELD UP BY THREE MEN

Bartender and His Patrons Covered by Robbers and Cash Register Is Looted.

CUSTOMERS' COIN IS TAKEN

Masked Thieves Terrorize Fourth Street Resort and Make Their Escape Unrecognized.

Three masked men held up and robbed the Brewery saloon on Fourth street last night at 11 o'clock, obtaining $34 and a gold watch. Four men, including the bartender on duty, were searched by the robbers, but they netted little, the plunder being taken from the cash register.

A few minutes before 11 o'clock, while three customers were standing at the bar talking with Harry Biddle, the bartender, a man stepped in through the front with a revolver in his hand and the lower part of his face enclosed in a black silk muffler. Quickly following him came two other men, disguised in similar manner, each carrying a pistol.

"Hands up!" commanded the first man, and those in the barroom were not slow in obeying.

"I'll Blow Your Head Off."

Biddle was made to come out from behind the bar, and the four men were lined up against the wall, while one of the robbers went to the cash register and took its contents.

While he was busy, one of the other robbers relieved the men against the wall of the small change they carried. One of the men in the place, "Old Tom" Connelly, thought at first it was all a jest, and poking his cane in the face of the robber who was going through him, he said: "I'll punch you in the nose."

With that the third man came up with a gun in each hand and spoke in tones that could not be misunderstood: "Keep quiet or I'll blow the top of your head off."

The work was done coolly and quickly and the three robbers stepped out and were swallowed up in the darkness a very few minutes after their entrance. The victims were too scared by the experience they had just gone through to look out to notice the direction the men took.

Three Suspicious Visitors.

Mrs. A. Leonesio, who owns the saloon, had already retired for the night, but she was called and immediately telephoned to the police station. Officers Armstrong and Hillhouse went to the scene, but very slight clews were obtained. The day bartender stated that during the afternoon three men had been in the place buying drinks and eyeing a large sum of money which was being counted at the desk at the time.

This money had been put away by the proprietress earlier in the evening, however. The description of these men tallies closely with the men who committed the robbery. All three wore black slouch hats, well pulled down over their eyes, and their clothes correspond in general with those worn by the earlier visitors.

The place is an ideal place for a hold-up. It is quite dark there, the only illumination being from some incandescent lamps on the brewer building a short distance away. Aside from the saloon there are no business houses in the neighborhood and few residences.

THE OVERLAND LEASE RENEWED

Extensive Changes Contemplated in the Structure by the Owner, A. Dromiack.

ANOTHER STORY TO BE ADDED

Sadlier & Dolley Get the Property for Five Years Again at $1250 a Month.

Important improvements are contemplated by A. Dromiack on his Overland hotel property, some to be commenced immediately and others to await the coming of spring next year, this season being too far advanced already to take them up. The changes planned will considerably increase the capacity of the hostelry, as well as make the interior and exterior more convenient and attractive.

The most important improvement is the adding of another story, which will contain 30 guest rooms. This has been under consideration for some time. In connection with the change, the interior of the building will be reconstructed to the extent of installing light wells which will give every room in the hotel light. At present there are a number of dark, inside rooms, having no windows and no vent to the air. With the building of another story there will also be installed an elevator.

A change that will be made immediately is the tearing out of the brick front on Center street from the side entrance to the barroom to the alley. In its place will be put in a plate-glass front. The lavatories and other rooms that occupy a large space on the first floor in the rear of the reading room and barber shop will be taken out and assigned to the basement. The partitions forming the hallway will also have to go, and both reading room and barber shop will be extended to the east wall of the building, making two large, light stores, with modern plate-glass fronts on Center street.

The lease held by Charles Sadleir and Linus Dolley on the hotel was renewed yesterday for a period of five years. Under its terms the lessees will pay $1250 per month until the additional story is completed, when the agreement calls for $1825 per month.

HAYWOOD CHEERED AT OGDEN AND SALT LAKE

stalwart son, and the latter, after shaking a few of the hundreds of outstretched hands, thanked everybody and started with his family for the home of his sister, Mrs. James Killeen.

With Haywood came his wife, mother, two daughters and other relatives, who met him in Ogden, and John H. Murphy, attorney for the Western Federation, who is now dying from tuberculosis. Dr. W. L. Biscbow, Mr. Murphy's physician, was with him. On his arrival here the patient was so ill that he was taken to the Holy Cross hospital as fear is expressed that he will not live to reach Denver, although Dr. Biscrow still speaks hopefully.

At Ogden the news of Haywood's arrival spread through the railroad yards and many men from the shops and switches in greasy blue jumpers took advantage of the short stop to touch the hand of the labor leader and to cheer him as the train rolled out of the depot.

No Quarrel With Moyer.

"The story that I have had a quarrel with Moyer doubtless originated where other similar stories, equally false, have started before," said Haywood during the ride from Ogden to Salt Lake, when asked with regard to a Boise dispatch. "There is absolutely no truth in them. Mr. Moyer delayed his departure from Boise chiefly because he wanted to stay near Pettibone as long as possible. As to the changes that may be made in counsel at the next trial I do not know. There will probably be a change. Some slight difficulty has arisen between Messrs. Richardson and Darrow. Both are big men and such differences are almost sure to arise when two big men are trying the same case."

Haywood said that he would leave with his family for Denver at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening on the Rio Grande. He expects to be at his desk at Federation headquarters on Monday.

BIG FEE PAID TO THE STATE

Incorporation Papers Cost the $50,000,000 Consolidated Copper Company $5000.

OPERATES PROPERTIES AT ELY

Sum Paid Is One of the Largest for the Purpose Received by the Treasury.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CARSON CITY, Aug. 2.—One of the largest fees ever paid into the state treasury by a foreign corporation operating in Nevada is that of the Consolidated Copper Company. The amount received by Secretary of State Douglass today from this concern was $5000.

The Consolidated Copper Company is a $50,000,000 corporation. It was forced by the act introduced by Assemblyman A. C. Holmes, of Washoe county, to pay the same incorporation fee, being a foreign corporation, as domestic corporations are charged.

The Consolidated Copper Company was recently floated on Wall street. It was organized for the purpose of taking over three of the big properties of Ely, of which the Ely Consolidated and the Giroux Consolidated are two.

MINER SAYS BANK GAVE DEED WITHOUT RIGHT

That the Nye and Ormsby County Bank without authority delivered a deed for 18 claims in the Greenwater district, Inyo county, California, which paper had been deposited with the bank pending further instructions, is charged in a complaint filed against the institution yesterday by Summerfield & Curler, as attorneys for Z. B. Lowman. The suit is for $13,500 with interest at 7 percent since February 9.

The action grows out of a mining deal between Lowman, J. C. Lisle and T. B. Beadle, the owners of the 18 claims in the Greenwater district, Inyo county, California, and A. D. Nash, a director of the Nye and Ormsby County Bank, together with Edgar T. Wallace, by which the owners agreed to sell the claims to Nash and Wallace. The complaint says the owners of the property deposited with the bank a deed of conveyance with instructions not to deliver it in the absence of further instructions from them.

Lowman, however, charges that the deed was delivered without such instructions from the plaintiff, who never received the money due or any part of it.

The complaint further alleges that Nash later conveyed the whole property to Wallace, who, in turn, transferred the property to the Greenwater Mining and Development Company.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 2.—"Surrender $10000 or be murdered along with your sister," was the substance of a letter received by Charles B. Grubb, one of Lancaster's wealthiest men.

Postmaster Miller expressed the belief that he knew the writing and the police are hunting for the writer, as they regard the threat as serious.

The writer said he had been chosen by lot as a member of an organization, "The Strong Forty-two," to secure from Grub $10000 or to take his life, and that of his sister, Miss Daisy Grubb, of Philadelphia.

STATE'S STOCK VALUES ADVANCE

While American Railroad Securities Steadily Decline, Mining Shares on the Upward Trend

SECRETARY BRIDE'S STATISTICS

Figures That Demonstrated the Advantage of Investment in the Sagebrush State's Properties

An indication of the investment inducements of Nevada mining shares compared to that of "industrials" is shown by figures compiled by Secretary Bride, of the Commercial League. Forty-seven of the leading railroad stocks, quoted on the New York Exchange, have since August, 1906, decreased in value 20.75 percent, while in the same time 50 of the leading mining stocks of this state have gained in value 35.97 percent.

Nevada Stocks Advance

Despite adverse economic conditions at home and unusual disturbances in the nearest market, San Francisco, the price of Nevada stocks has maintained an increasing standard because of the very worth of the mines. Knowledge of fair returns, the proper expenditure of the sum invested, and resultant ore shipments, kept up the public's faith in its mining shares. At the lowest, consequently, the trading in the best 50 was good and the price always tending to rise. Twelve months of such sales has produced the results so startling to the Wall street manipulators.

According to Burton's Railroad Quotation Record, the lowest average price of the 47 leading railroad stocks per share during August, 1906, was $89.36. The sales from which average was taken were reported from the New York exchange.

A year later, July 31, 1907, the Associated Press gave the average value of these same 47 railroad stocks as $68.51 a share. The loss is 20.75 percent.

One share each of the 50 leading Nevada mining stocks quoted on the San Francisco, Goldfield and other exchanges had a total on July 31, 1906, of $57.90 1-2 a share. These same 50 stocks had a value exactly one year later of $78.73 1-2. The increased value per share of the 50, then, is 35.97 percent.

Railroads That Lost

The 47 leading railroads that felt this loss of stock value are the lines operating in the greatest paying markets in the United States. They are situated in the districts where traffic is heaviest, where equipment is most expensive and quickest returns obtained on the investment. Among these roads are the Pennsylvania, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, New York Central, Southern Seaboard Air Line, Rock Island, Santa Fe, Burlington, Southern Pacific, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Great Northern, Lake Shore, Wabash, Boston & Maine, Boston & Albany, Philadelphia & Reading, Delaware & Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson, Louisville & Nashville, Missouri Pacific and the Denver & Rio Grande.

SCALPERS AND THEIR TICKETS

Three Special Train Agents at Reno Keep Close Watch on the Business.

HARD TO ESCAPE DETECTION

German Loses His Money and His Last Chance to See His Wife Alive.

An average of more than one ticket a day confiscated by the railroads centering in Reno is the record. Three special agents are employed here to detect the use of tickets contrary to their printed conditions.

As Reno is the railway center of Nevada it is a promising town for ticket scalpers, who offer transportation to the unsuspecting buyer on all sides. It is all at the buyer's risk—a big risk, too, for the system for detecting scalped tickets is brought to perfection.

Identification marks on the face of the tickets as well as the original purchaser's signature, a duplicate of which may be demanded at any time, are hard things to get around and few succeed. The presentation by another than the original purchaser means forfeiture.

A young German who spoke the language imperfectly, leaving an invalid wife in New York, came west to make a home for her. Soon after his arrival he received word that he could only see her alive by returning immediately. Urged, with specious promises, by a ticket-scalping compatriot, he bought at nearly full fare and with almost the last of his money, a ticket which, as he supposed, would take him to the bedside of his dying wife. At the first station his ticket was forfeited and he was ejected from the train. On his return to the broker he was only laughed at, and when he received funds from New York his wife was already in her grave.

A case of revenge occurred in the east in connection with the forfeiture of a ticket. Having been caught on one occasion redhanded an amateur actor carefully prepared to retaliate for having lost his ticket. In a make-up quite dissimilar to his ordinary appearance, with a party of friends as witnesses, he purchased his ticket. He then boarded the train in his ordinary guise. His right to his ticket was challenged, and in spite of his identification by a friend, his ticket was taken away from him. He immediately brought suit against the railroad and obtained settlement with large damages before the case came to trial.

Roomers Stole Heirlooms.

Mrs. Hanson who rents one of the Fulton houses on First street, where she takes roomers, has reported to the police that two young men named Myers and Wright, who paid for their rooms in advance, have fled after stealing from her several pieces of jewelry, mostly heirlooms which Mrs. Hanson valued highly. The two shipped their valises to Ogden but have as yet not shown up there. Among the stolen property was a valuable Swiss movement watch in solid gold case.
